Circleville, Ohio

90th Year—86

NO SPRING FEVER TUESDAY—Although everyone is ready to suffer the consequences of Spring fever, it looks like we'll have to wait about a week for the weather to cooperate. Circleville was blasted by temperatures as low as 30 degrees Tuesday and at least a half an inch of snow that fell steadily all day and reached blizzard-like conditions several times. But there will be warmer days, according to the weatherman, who predicts the thermometer will realize its Spring in about a week.

Reds Build Up Supplies In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent about 1,000 tons of artillery shells and other ammunition into northern provinces of South Vietnam last week, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Meanwhile, an estimated 700 North Vietnamese trucks were said to have rolled down the Ho Chi Minh supply

U.S. Target Of Lebanese Student Riot

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security forces in armored cars, on foot and wielding batons dispersed 500 demonstrating students trying to reach the American Embassy today to protest Israel's surprise raid on Lebanon.

The shouting, clapping students, who had been marching in the streets since early morning, scattered into side streets to regroup. Other students marched elsewhere in the troubled city.

Equipped with bullhorns, several students led the embassy demonstrators in chanting "Down with imperialism" and "There Is No Difference Between Israel and the United States."

Extra security forces were moved up to the embassy in the wake of the Israeli attack. Demonstrators who tried to reach it Tuesday also were turned back.

Premier Saeb Salam, who resigned Tuesday night, cautioned the Lebanese and Palestinians against "exploiting funerals to stir up violence."

Public funerals are planned Thursday for the three Palestinian leaders slain in their apartments by the Israeli commandos early Tuesday.

Informed sources said President Suleiman Franjeh has decided to accept Salam's resignation.

trail in Laos during the same period. Most of this materiel also is expected to end up in South Vietnam, the sources said.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson spoke Tuesday of a "continuing buildup in the materiel available to the North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam."

"While this does not in itself point to the likelihood of any major new offensive in the short term," Richardson said, "nevertheless, the process by which this has been going on has been in violation of the cease-fire agreement."

Thus, the North Vietnamese supply shipments have been continuing without letup despite President Nixon's warnings first uttered in March and twice repeated since then.

South Vietnamese military authorities have told American officials the North Vietnamese will have been resupplied and equipped sufficiently to launch major attacks this month in the two vulnerable provinces just below the demilitarized zone.

Regardless of differing estimates as to when a North Vietnamese offensive might come, there is general agreement that Hanoi is preparing for extensive military operations in South Vietnam, where the war was supposed to have ended through the cease-fire Jan. 27.

Reinforcing this belief are intelligence reports of Communist engineer troops improving an important road across the DMZ so trucks can drive directly south through the old U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, regardless of weather.

Also, U.S. intelligence says the North Vietnamese have extended a motor-fuel pipeline from Laos to South Vietnam's A Shau Valley, a traditional infiltration route. This pipeline will carry gas and oil to North Vietnamese armored vehicles and supply trucks, experts say.

Storm Rakes Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An early spring storm that paralyzed parts of the Midwest churned across the Northeast today bringing heavy snow and freezing temperatures.

Freeze or frost warnings were extended from Missouri and Illinois into the Ohio Valley and to the Gulf Coast states. Only Florida was expected to be spared. Birmingham, Ala., reported a record April 10 low of 31 degrees.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for parts of Maine, where five inches already had hit Rumford. Greenville and Houlton had four inches. Several more inches were predicted for today. Gale-force winds pounded much of the Great Lakes region and the northern New England coast.

In the Midwest, where the winterlike storm struck fiercely Monday and Tuesday, cleanup operations progressed and most snow-clogged highways were opened.

Fair skies prevailed over most of the nation outside the East.

The death count for storm-related incidents totaled 30 for Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Most of the victims were pushing cars, shoveling snow or seeking shelter from the storm when they died.

Moderate temperatures were expected to help the Iowa situation, but just as relief was coming, a new peril arose—flooding streams. The National Weather Service said the Des Moines River, Cedar Creek and the Skunk River all would be over their banks by the weekend.

In Missouri, new concern was expressed about the flooding Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The Corps of Army Engineers was assessing possible effects of the storm and additional snow melt on the St. Louis region. Levees in Illinois and Missouri withstood a strong attack from the pounding of six-foot waves stirred up by winds up to 60 miles per hour Tuesday.

Flooding in Monroe County, Mich., south of Detroit, and the Toledo, Ohio, area were said to be the worst in the past half-century. Damage estimates soared into the millions as residents began returning to homes damaged by the storm-tossed waters of Lake Erie.

Meanwhile, a biology professor at Southern Illinois University raised the possibility of a new problem in the flood areas.

Dr. Joel Margalit said standing water left from the floods could produce a bumper crop of disease-carrying mosquitoes. He listed encephalitis, a disease characterized by inflammation of the brain, among the viruses potentially threatening the flooded areas.

About seven million acres of land in the Mississippi system were still under water, according to Maj. Gen. Charles C. Noble, president of the Mississippi River Commission. Total damage along the system has been estimated so far at $160 million.

Alternate Education Plan Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Claiborne Pell today proposed a new federal aid plan for the nation's public schools as an alternative to President Nixon's special revenue sharing for education.

The plan suggested by Pell, chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, includes extension of two major aid programs; per-pupil grants to school districts; property-tax rebates, and incentives to states that equalize expenditures among districts.

Pell said in a prepared Senate speech that the Nixon proposal "is simply a less attractive version of the education-revenue-sharing bill we found so unattractive in the last Congress."

The Rhode Island Democrat predicted there would be little support for the new administration measure but promised his panel would give it a fair hearing.

Pell's alternative package would include these features:

—A four-year extension of present major federal aid programs including the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and aid for areas with concentrations of federal employees. But he said these might well be revised as the subcommittee works on the bill.

—A new general aid program of $100 paid to school districts for each child enrolled in a school, plus $25 per child for those whose family income is less than $4,000, roughly the poverty level for a family of four. This would not start until 1976.

—Federal payments of up to 10 per cent of a state's aid-to-education program if the state adopts plans to equalize education expenditures among school districts. This would begin in 1977.

—A new plan of rebates to homeowners and renters for a portion of their local property taxes, beginning in 1976.

—A sharp reduction in the level of authorizations for federal education programs. The administration has been spending far less than the authorizations.

The rebate on property taxes would work this way:

During the first year of the program, the federal government would rebate to the taxpayer any local property tax that exceeded five per cent of his income. This would apply to a homeowner who paid the tax directly or to a renter who paid it indirectly.

After the first year, states would have to continue the rebates with Washington paying one-third of the cost.

Nixon's special revenue-sharing proposal would fold into block grants to the states several of the present major categorical programs including much of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the biggest federal aid program.

It would make available $2.7 billion next fiscal year compared to about $3 billion allotted for the separate programs in the current year.

'Gold' In Cow Manure?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There may be gold in them thar' cow chips.

Chemists say cattle manure can be converted into pipeline gas by mixing the dried manure with hydrogen, which reacts to form methane and ethane, the major constituents of natural gas.

Herman Feldmann of the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh told delegates to the 165th national meeting of the American Chemical Society all about it. Only he calls it "hydrogasification of cattle manure to pipeline gas."

Feldmann says the Bureau of Mines is developing technology to convert solid wastes to clean energy processes. He contends that if an economic way of doing this can be found, the solid waste disposal problem could be solved and the clean energy shortage alleviated.

Which brings us back to cattle manure. "An attractive feed stock for a synthetic natural gas plant" is what Feldmann calls it. For example:

—Cattle manure is abundant, and the size and concentration of feed lots simplify its collection in the amounts required for reasonably sized gas plants.

—The manure requires no preparation, apart from partial drying. The cow has taken care of the necessary shredding and grinding.

—The areas with the highest concentration of cattle feed are also areas of high natural gas production — so gas transmission lines are usually available.

—Experiments show that cattle manure is easily converted to a gas having a greater heating value than could be gotten by converting coal or naphtha, a volatile petroleum.

How is it done?

Feldmann says the reaction occurs at around 1,000 degrees and at a pressure of around 1,000 psig — pounds per square inch gauge — thus allowing the gas produced to be injected into gas transmission lines without recompression.

About 40 per cent of the carbon in the manure is converted with the hydrogen. The remaining portion of the carbon is used for the production of hydrogen, so that the only residue remaining after converting the manure to pipeline gas is the sterile inorganic ash.

ROUNDTOWN

THE City Water Department will temporarily shut-off water flow in three sections of Circleville Thursday to allow for the changing of fire hydrants.

From 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., Union St. from Pickaway St. to Court St., and Court St., from Mill St. to Union St., will be without service.

From 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., crews will shut off water on High St., from Court St. to the end of High St.

DRIVERS' Examining Station on E. Main St. in Circleville is open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week for testing for driver permits and licenses.

THANKS, Teresa, for your support. This was but part of a letter sent from Commander Kenneth L. Coskey of the U. S. Navy, a prisoner of war for 4½ years, to Teresa Ankrom, CHS senior. Teresa has been wearing Coskey's POW bracelet for almost two years and was delighted to find her man one of the early returned. She recently received Coskey's letter of thanks and a photograph showing the serviceman, his wife, son and daughter.

Pass Trial Venue Shift Under Study

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — An attorney for Albert Pass, awaiting trial in the Yablonski murder case, says a codefendant's reported confession bolsters the case for a change of venue.

"I've not read the report," said the attorney, Harold Gendelman of Pittsburgh. "But if it says what I think it says, I would use it in supplemental motions to the judge."

Gendelman last month asked that Pass' trial, scheduled for June 4 in Erie County Court, be transferred to another site because of publicity surrounding the trial of William C. Prater, who was convicted of murder in the slayings of United Mine Workers union reformer Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

Sources close to the case revealed Tuesday that Prater has given authorities "a handwritten confession" of his role in the plot that led to the 1969 murders.

Prater, during testimony in his trial, denied any connection with the slayings.

Weather

Partly cloudy and cold today, high temperatures in the low 40s. Variable cloudiness tonight and tomorrow, low tonight near 30, high tomorrow in the upper 40s. High Tuesday, 40; low, 30.

Ohio GOP Solons Fight 'Railroaded' Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Democrats say they are determined to get Gov. John Gilligan's $9.8 billion budget bill through the Finance Committee this week over objections of Republicans accusing them of "a railroad job."

Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bournville, started twice-a-day hearings Tuesday and said he will seek to have the measure ready for a committee vote Thursday afternoon.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he wants the bill called up for a floor vote next week before the legislators take a planned, 10-day Easter recess. The bill now is $118 million more than the original spending authority asked by the governor as a result of revised tax revenue estimates.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate passed 29-2 a measure extending to 18 to 21-year-olds virtually all the legal rights of adulthood except the right to buy liquor and high powered beer.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, sponsored the "age of majority" measure which he said would make Ohio the 33rd state to lower the so-called age of majority since a U.S. Constitutional amendment lowered the voting age to 18.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, offered a labor amendment to include the right to buy alcoholic drinks. His amendment lost on a standing vote—14 to 17—with senators heading off a roll call tally that would have put their votes on the record.

Arguing for his amendment, Meshel told the Senate "it is incongruous that they have the right to vote on a local option, but not the right to buy a six-pack at the neighborhood store they helped put in business."

Aronoff, who sponsored the same measure last year but watched it die in the House because of the liquor provision, said he hopes the legislature will not "get bogged down" over it this year because of the many other

"meritorious" provisions it contains. But he added: "I don't think we've heard the last of the liquor issue."

Among other things, the bill would allow Ohioans 18 and over to sue and be sued, enter into contracts, and marry without parental consent.

Voting against the bill, which now goes to the House, were Sens. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, and Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland—Van Meter after urging reinstatement of the liquor provision.

Rep. Frederick Young, R-38 Dayton, and other Republicans on the House Finance Committee accused majority Democrats of a "railroad job" on the budget bill following Gilligan's call late last week of a $118 million addition to proposed expenditures.

Shoemaker, who sat as a minority member of the committee several terms before Democrats won control of the lower chamber last year, brushed the charge aside. "I can remember a lot of times as a minority member when I rode the same railroad," he said.

Shoemaker named an 11-member subcommittee—with himself as chairman—to draft a substitute bill for presentation to the full committee Thursday afternoon. Anyone wanting to amend the bill will get their opportunity at that time, he said.

In floor action, the House passed and sent to the Senate a measure allowing city councils to give pay raises to police and firemen who obtain additional education. The vote was 81-4.

Another bill winning 86-0 House approval expands the authority of the Ohio Highway Patrol to investigate motor vehicle titling matters.

Besides the age of majority measure, the Senate passed one other bill and sent it to the House. That measure, by Meshel and others, exempts food processing operations from licensing if their facilities are not offered for hire.

A new bill introduced in the House would require applicants for real estate salesmen's licenses to receive 30 hours of classroom instruction prior to taking an examination. The measure by Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, and other Democrats came in the wake of a controversy surrounding the issuance of a license to former GOP Gov. James Rhodes four days before he left office in 1971.

Rhodes and some of his key aides received both broker's and salesmen's licenses.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market paused today in its upward thrust, after three straight days of gains. Analysts said the thrust of the market appeared positive.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 0.75 at 959.74. Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange led declining issues 611 to 525.

"The market deserves a pullback," said Robert Stovall of Strongly Securities. "We've had three strong days in a row."

The Dow gained 37.07 points in the three prior sessions as investors reacted to the good first-quarter earnings brought in by some of the larger companies.

On the American Stock Exchange, issues were mixed in quiet trading. The noon price-change index was up .01 at 24.18.

The noon index of some 1,400 common stocks on the NYSE was down 0.12 at 59.61.

Villagers Mourn Crash Dead

AXBRIDGE, England (AP) — The blinds were drawn today at many of the houses in Axbridge, and behind them the villagers wept for relatives and neighbors who died Tuesday on a blizzard-swept mountain in Switzerland.

It was the same in nearby Cheddar, Congresbury and Wrington, all picturesque villages in the Mendip hills of Somerset county, in southwest England.

Husbands and sons had risen at dawn Tuesday to see 109 persons from the four villages—most of them women and girls—off on a sightseeing and shopping trip to Switzerland for which they had saved and planned for months. Their airliner, operated by a British charter company, crashed south of Basel and 105 of the 144 persons aboard were dead or missing.

Only 31 of the 109 villagers were listed among the survivors. But families of the others still held some hope because identities of four of the survivors had not been announced and 10 persons were listed as missing.

"This town died when that plane went down," said one Axbridge man. "None of my family were aboard, but I knew every one of the people who went from Axbridge."

The men heard about the crash on the radio at lunchtime and spent most of the day and night waiting and praying, some of them at nearby Bristol airport, for news of their loved ones.

Philip Batt left the airport at midnight with no news of eight relatives, among them his mother, father and grandmother.

"My God, my whole family....," he said, near to tears.

Dennis Gill sat up all night waiting for word of his wife Ellen, daughter Hazel, brother Ivor, sister-in-law Marie and 21-year-old nephew John. The two families lived next door to each other in Congresbury.

At dawn the airline reported a woman named Gill was among the survivors. But Gill did not know whether it was his wife or daughter.

All day Tuesday rumor and uncertainty swept the villages. Not until nearly midnight did the first few names of the survivors trickle in.

During the evening, the men of Axbridge crowded into the 12th-century village church to pray with the Rev. Anthony Martin for their relatives and friends. Many left in tears.

Martin turned his vicarage into an information center, telephoning the airline, Swiss authorities, anybody, to get word.

Cambodian Fuel Shortage Not Being Felt In Capital

PHNOM Penh, Cambodia (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is flying gas and oil into Cambodia's capital to ease a shortage that has been talked about a lot more than it has been felt.

The Americans have been flying in 20 plane-loads of weapons and ammunition a week for two months, but the fuel airlift began Tuesday with the arrival of a huge plastic bladder of motor fuel filling the cargo hold of a C130 Hercules.

U.S. officials wouldn't say how much fuel oil, gasoline and kerosene would be flown in, but the Pentagon said it would not be a "major" airlift.

Phnom Penh's fuel routes—by road from the south coast and up the Mekong River from Saigon—have been cut by the Communists most of the time since January. Five tankers made it up the river Sunday and Monday, but Communist gunners still hold long stretches along the waterway.

The government has been rationing motorists to three gallons of gas per purchase, but the number of filling stations that can be visited in succession is limited only by the capacity of the tank.

Kerosene for cooking also is rationed, and some Cambodians have switched back to charcoal and wood, the fuels they once used.

The Communists are all around Phnom Penh, and many foreign observers think the only reason they haven't taken the city is because they don't want it. But Phnom Penh shows none of the faces of a besieged city.

Food is abundant in the markets. The prices have risen steeply, but because of runaway inflation, not because of shortages.

The rice supply is assured by the Americans. Even imported beer and wine are available in the Cafe de Paris and other restaurants.

But the war cannot be forgotten. Every night the ground shudders from U.S. B52 strikes, some just 14 miles away. There are complaints about refugees created by the bombing, and the U.S. air support has not given government forces enough power to go on the offensive. But at least it has allowed them to hold out.

Pigskin Dressings Save Girl From Death; Skin Grafts Start

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Pigskin dressings that have kept nine-year-old Sandra Kimble alive for nearly a month have done their job. Doctors have started making grafts of the youngster's own skin to get her back on her feet.

Sandra, whose nightgown caught fire from an electric heater on March 13, has been receiving daily applications of the skin of pigs under the supervision of Dr. Ben Knecht and physiotherapist Carmen Bossenbrock

Saigon Claims 147 Cease-Fire Violations Noted

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said Communist forces violated the cease-fire 147 more times in the 36 hours ending at noon today, and that 34 government soldiers were killed and 199 wounded. Civilian casualties were put at 19 dead and 19 wounded.

Most of the casualties were in small, isolated skirmishes, the military command said.

Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., President Nixon's special emissary, left Saigon today for his second visit to Phnom Penh, the final stop on his four-day tour of Southeast Asia.

Haig arrived in Saigon Tuesday night. He met today with Premier Tran Thien Khiem for 45 minutes and reportedly discussed a request from the Cambodian government for South Vietnamese military help against Communist units in Southern Cambodia.

at Deaconess Hospital. The technique was developed by Dr. Knecht in 1965 at the University of Iowa and pioneered there.

Under the method, pigskin is laid on the burned areas daily after the old skin is washed away. Doctors say it reduces the chance of infection, prevents fluid loss, eases pain and improves the appetite.

Sandra's pigskin dressings, which cost more than $100 a day, came from clean hides of freshly killed swine flown from the Burn Treatment Skin Bank in Phoenix, Ariz.

The hides are treated so as to be sterile, shaved and cut into strips. Rolled over gauze, the pigskin is packaged, sealed and refrigerated.

Sandra needed about two and a half rolls of pigskin every other day. It had to be removed within one to four days or the child's body would have rejected it with violent reaction.

Dr. Knecht, who came to Wenatchee a year ago, says the first 48 hours are crucial in guarding against "burn shock," and that's when the pigskin serves as a savior.

Sandra began receiving grafts of her own skin on various parts of her body on Tuesday.

OFBF Fights House Bill On Rollback

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau warned Tuesday that the proposed Phase 4 price restrictions could bring higher food prices, greater demands for food and the danger of black markets.

The statement was made in a telegram to Ohio Congressmen announcing the Farm Bureau's opposition to a bill, scheduled to be voted on in the House Thursday. The bill would roll back prices, interest rates and rents to Jan. 10 levels.

Meanwhile, meat prices were returning to normal across Ohio following last week's boycott, but meat suppliers still were operating at less than capacity as some farmers continued to keep their animals off the market.

A federal consumer affairs official said a meat shortage is a real possibility if the Phase 4 guidelines are adopted.

"After all, nobody has yet devised a way to compel a farmer to raise a cow or grow an extra acre of wheat if he doesn't want to," said Betty Bay.

Mrs. Bay, director for state and local programs for the Office of Consumer Affairs, spoke Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio State University Agriculture Alumni Association.

A spot check of meat sales figures during last week's boycott showed meat profits down 12 to 15 per cent in some major stores, while fish, poultry and dairy sales reached new levels.

While livestock prices in Ohio fluctuated last week, they have remained steady this week.

Proper Procedure Outlined For Rural Developments

Pickaway County Commissioners, Regional Planning Committee and Board of Review of Subdivision Plats have agreed on a procedure that real estate developers must follow to gain approval of proposed subdivisions.

In any proposed development, initial clearance must be obtained from the township zoning board. After that a sketch plat must be submitted to Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady for suggestions.

A preliminary review of the sketch drawing will be held by the board of review. The board is composed of Ned Harden, chairman of the Pickaway County Regional Planning Committee, County Engineer Henry McCrady, Planning Consultant Patricia Steele, Thoburn Blaney and Hugh Barnhill representing the County Board of Health, and Don Archer, representing the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District. The board meets the second Tuesday of each month in the engineer's office in the Court House.

Following the preliminary review, recommendations will be made to the subdiviver for use in preparation of the plat which is to be drawn to scale with contours. The plat must be submitted to the board of review for final recommendations. When these final recommendations have been followed, the final plat may then be submitted to the Pickaway County Commissioners. The commissioners will have the final plat signed by the cooperating governmental departments and either approve or disapprove the plat. After approval by the commissioners, it may be recorded.

During the regular meeting Tuesday, the board of review made recommendation of four sites. The approved a plat for 39 lots in Logan Elm Village. They discussed and made recommendations for surface drainage in the Hominy Estates Subdivision which had been approved by commissioners Monday.

They made recommendations and approved a building site on an 83-acre farm near Meade. It is owned by Vernon Wood. They approved two building sites on an 80-acre farm owned by G. A. Wyllie on the Circleville-Winchester Road. Commissioners L. Robert Liston and

A Page Of Opinion

Valuable Resource

America spends much effort and money in its public education system on the under-achievers — the handicapped, slow learners and others who have difficulty keeping up with the level of the class average.

But what of the potential overachiever, the one who could do work superior to the class average if given the opportunity?

Not all educators agree, but a large number admit the public school system is wasting the talents of the gifted child. One who feels this way is Dr. Ruth A. Martinson, professor emeritus of education and psychology at California State College, who said:

"I know of no gifted child who has had a fully adequate and thoroughly satisfying education."

The problem may not be limited to a few. Estimates range up to 2 million of the number of children who fit into the above-average classification. Some progress has been made in recent years toward doing something constructive about the situation, but not nearly enough.

As Dr. John Gowan, president of The Association for the Gifted, challenged the education system recently: "This country has to wake up to the fact that gifted children constitute the most valuable resources we have. No country that neglects its talent is going to survive very long."

No Two Decades Alike

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

A Yale undergraduate named Deena Nelson, who, to judge from some of her questions, is something on the women's lib side, has been busy with a term paper comparing the Nineteen Sixties and Seventies with the Twenties and Thirties. She finds the similarities tantalizing: rebellion, radicalism, down-with-Establishmentarianism, and all that. But times never really repeat themselves.

The Twenties were loose and alcoholic, but the vaunted sexual liberation of the period was mostly a matter of words. F. Scott Fitzgerald put his Princetonian Amory Blaine in a "petting shirt" in "This Side of Paradise," but it was all very innocent.

Hemingway when he said he had always been true to Zelda even after she had succumbed to her psychosis.

The Twenties, to my mind, were much more akin to the Fifties than the Sixties. As Menckenes we were apolitical, even anti-political, in the Twenties, expecting nothing from a Coolidge or a Hoover. Just as the so-called silent generation of the Fifties expected nothing from Dwight Eisenhower. It wasn't apathy in either case; both periods were full of improvisation, athletic contest, and fun.

The Thirties were something like the Sixties in their political defiance, but the radicals of the two periods weren't even fifth cousins. In the Thirties the radical watchwords were discipline and study. The Socialists and Communists of the time really read, or tried to read, "Das Kapital"; they could quote accurately from Lenin or Hobson on imperialism or from Trotsky on revolutionary morality. In the Sixties the likes of Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman couldn't have quoted accurately from Mother Goose. The liberals of the Thirties could really tell you a thing or two about John Maynard Keynes' ideas about combatting "liquidity preference" by manipulating public spending. In the Sixties liquidity preference meant a retreat from LSD and heroin to booze.

Nora Syre, a young writer whose journalism has been collected in a book called "Sixties Going on Seventies" (Arbor House, $9.95), is just catching on to the great fault of the Sixties, which can be expressed in one word: brainlessness. She seemed interested when I told her that I had known (and competed against) her father, Joel Sayre, when we were both reporters in the New York of the Twenties. Her face lit up when she spoke of her father; and it was easy to see why. Her father believed in truth. Although one of her compulsions is to be radical, she has a deeper desire to respect facts even when they go against radical presumptions. She had been very critical in an interview in the King Features Syndicate office of writers like Tom Wolfe, who relies on hearsay for some of his quoted conversations, and of other "new journalists" who, not even depending on hearsay, simply invent the words they put between quotation marks.

Miss Sayre's own prescription for reporting demands physical presence at a happening, a demonstration or a riot; her quoted conversations come from a postive genius for accurate eavesdropping. Sometimes the conversations bore, but it is not Miss Sayre's fault. After all, the radicals of the Sixties became the most cliché-addicted bunch we have ever had, with their "right-ones" and their endlessly repetitive references to a couple of functions that are as old as the animal kingdom.

I like the quality of Miss Sayre's reporting because, in a frenzy of honesty, she has recently revisited the scenes of the Sixties and done some pieces labeled "hindsight." Thus she forces herself to confront a botched revolution. When she revisited Yale some months after the May, 1970 uprising in behalf of Bobby Seale and the Black Panthers, "it seemed as though there had never been a strike." There has simply been "an exchange of problems." One girl confessed to preferring heterosexuality to lesbianism. Another said "maybe it's better to have Nixon because he makes the static."

So "revolutions" come and go. I learned something from the radicalism of the Thirties because it led me so deeply into economics and political psychology that I eventually saw through the fallacies of Marx and Lenin. I don't see how anyone could have learned much from the rebellion of the Sixties; the approach to dissent was so scatterbrained arguing that they are a costly nuisance whose purpose cannot even be explained.

Never, says the head of this 18,000-worker company, has even one in a thousand stockholders attended a meeting. Fuqua says that when polled, 99 per cent of them agreed that the meetings should be dropped.

It would be much more edifying, he insists, if he were to communicate by mail with his shareholders, thus saving them the futility of a trip to Atlanta from the far corners of the country.

If the annual meeting were to be effective, he suggests, it would require active participation by individual shareowners. But then, he asks, how in the world—not alone in Atlanta—could you accommodate all of them?

Nevertheless, Fuqua still observes the annual meeting, not because of the Securities and Exchange Commission or the state of Delaware, in which the company is incorporated, but because in New York Stock Exchange requires it.

While Fuqua does appear to have some valid criticisms of these annual affairs, they still appear to serve at least one highly productive function, that of providing an accounting of their administration by officers and directors.

If it is true that most very large companies couldn't possibly make arrangements for a gathering of most stockholders, it is equally true that news from the meetings is widely distributed to them by the media.

The Kansas City meeting May 9 of International Telephone & Telegraph Stockholders, for example, will be closely watched by millions of shareholders and others for comments about its relations with the U.S. and Chilean governments.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a time of year that tests executive patience, a period on the corporate calendar that falls between issuance of the annual report and plans for a summer vacation. It is annual meeting time.

The number of affairs increases this week and reaches a peak in the third and fourth weeks of the month when, by one count, the stockholders of at least 145 companies listed on the New York or American exchanges gather on April 24.

As usual, only a tiny percentage of shareholders will attend most meetings, just as only a relative few will do much with the annual report except use it to stir the air in the stuffy auditorium.

The number who will ask a question from the floor will constitute an even more infinitesimal fraction. Almost no business will be conducted that has not, because of planning and legal requirements, been agreed upon in advance.

If a fired-up stockholder mistakenly assumes he can sound off as he pleases in this world of corporate democracy he is soon disabused of the notion when he finds his microphone turned off on orders of the chairman.

What purpose then, other than to observe a traditional rite of spring, is served by the annual meeting? Very little, say some corporate leaders, except to irritate them, use up their time, and appease some windy discontents.

Too often, they say, a professional meeting-goer seeking publicity can distract from the best laid plans, which usually include a little executive boasting about performance or the introduction of a great new product.

J.B. Fuqua, chairman of an Atlanta-based conglomerate by that name, has been conducting a personal battle against having meetings at all,

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 11, the 101st day of 1973. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte abdicated as emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1689, William and Mary were crowned king and queen of England. In 1713, Spain ceded Gibraltar to England.

In 1899, the Philippine Islands were transferred from Spain to the United States.

In 1921, a telephone line between the United States and Cuba was opened by President Warren G. Harding.

In 1951, President Harry S. Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

In 1961, France said it would no longer contribute men or money to U.N. military enterprises.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Navy said it had abandoned hope for the nuclear submarine Thresher, which disappeared in the Atlantic off Cape Cod. The death toll was put at 129.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson signed a civil rights bill that stressed open housing.

One year ago: Thousands of persons were killed in an earthquake in southern Iran.

Today's birthday: Mrs. Ethel Kennedy is 45.

Thought for today: To speak kindly does not hurt the tongue — French proverb.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have recently been told that an operation for the removal of my womb is necessary. I am frightened, but more concerned by the stories that abound about the unnecessary surgery that is performed for conditions like mine.

Mrs. K. G., Mass

Dear Mrs. G.:

Stories about unnecessary surgery always make good copy in newspapers and magazines. Nevertheless the removal of the uterus is a remarkably safe operation. It is to be expected that it would call forth a degree of rightful anxiety. There are many psychological factors involved with this type of surgery that often seem to threaten femininity.

Many studies on the psychological aftermath of hysterectomy indicate that the well-adjusted woman who is thoroughly prepared for this type of surgery need not react adversely to it.

Many misconceptions about hysterectomy exist in the minds of women. These misconceptions are unrelated to educational background. It is important for greater emotional security all aspects of the operation be fully discussed with your doctor. Only in this way can you be liberated from the anxiety associated with this or any other type of surgery. There are many controls in hospitals that prevent unnecessary surgery. Committees of physicians carefully review the records of all operations. This system acts as a safeguard to the patient.

All tissue removed during surgery is sent to the laboratory for microscopic study. The tissue diagnosis is then carefully compared with the preoperative and surgical diagnosis. These safeguards are maintained for private, clinic, and ward patients.

All surgeons are aware of an undercurrent of concern that patients may express. They frequently suggest another opinion when patients give such evidence of concern.

Patients can, in a very adult and mature way, ask their doctor for another confirmatory opinion when major surgery is advised. Anxious people deserve the reassurance that two conferring opinions will provide.

Under what conditions is X-ray treatment used for a tumor instead of surgery?

Mr. T.S.U., Ohio

Dear Mr. U.:

Some special tumors are known to be highly radio-sensitive, and disappear when they are bombarded with cobalt radiation.

Others are radio-resistant and are not affected by radiation. These tumors are therefore removed by surgery.

There are other factors in the decision to use surgery, X-ray radiation, or a combination of both.

The location of the tumor and possible pressure on vital structures often determine the technique to be used by the doctor and the surgeon.

Their judgment must be followed. Patients are not in a position to understand the many aspects involved in a surgeon's conclusion. Therefore, patients cannot make their own choice in these matters.

Weather Hampers Nation's Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers, encouraged by the Nixon administration to boost production this year, are being severely tested by a siege of poor weather throughout much of the nation.

As of April 1, says the Agriculture Department, farm operations in the South, Corn Belt, Great Plains and in many other regions were far behind normal.

The situation has worsened since then in many areas where heavy flooding and heavy snow have halted field work.

Commenting on the situation as it appeared 10 days ago, the department's Crop Reporting Board said Monday, "Very little land preparation and almost no planting" of major crops was done by April 1 in stricken areas.

"South Texas farmers were about two weeks behind schedule in planting cotton, corn and sorghum," officials said. "Only limited corn acreage was planted in South Carolina. Tobacco plant bed seeding started early in Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina and tobacco transplanting was active in Georgia but was just getting underway in South Carolina."

Other comments included: "Excessive soil moisture brought field work to a virtual standstill in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi... many farmers were concerned that flooded lowland acreage would not dry out in time to plant cotton."

"In the north central states, field work was restricted by rains and muddy fields. Only in North Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin were farmers able to get an early start on tilling and small grain seeding."

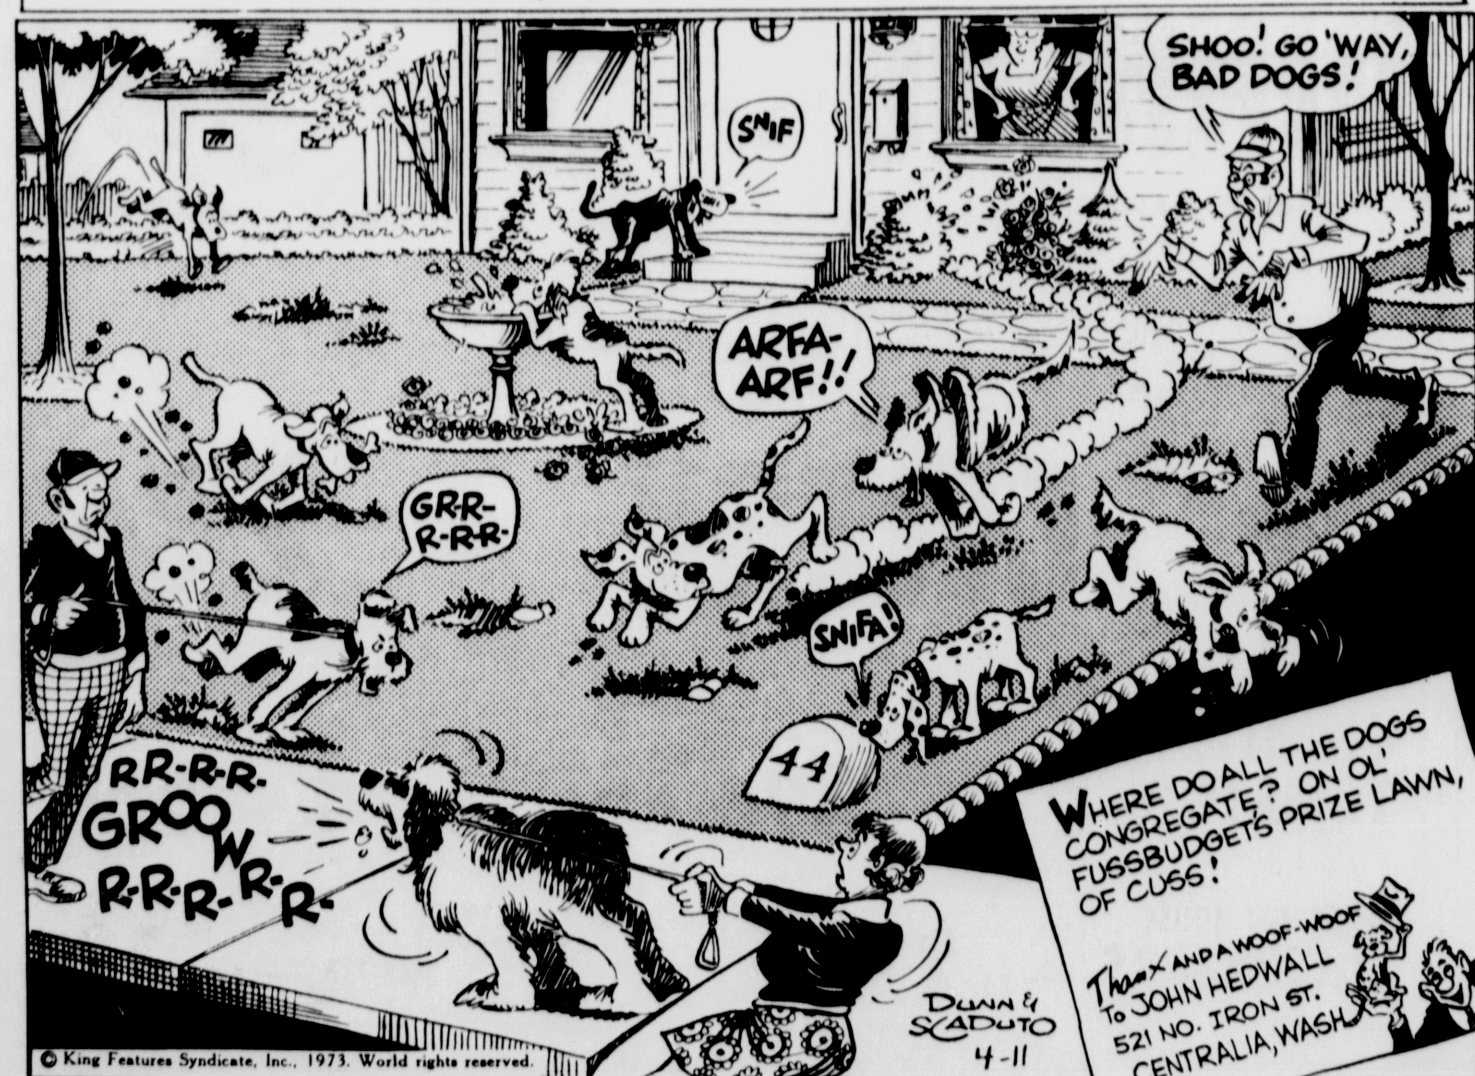

"Spring plowing and small grain seeding were behind normal in all other Corn Belt states. Only limited field work on higher elevation soil was evident in the eastern Corn Belt."

Five Points News

By MRS. FRANCIS FURNISS

There were 22 present at the Five Points United Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning. Worship service followed with 67 present.

Mrs. Robert See extended the hospitality of her home to the members of the Five Points United Methodist Women when they met Wednesday evening for their April meeting. The president being absent, Mrs. Herman Porter conducted the business meeting and heard the various reports. The roll call was answered by fourteen members. Mrs. John O'Day read scripture from Ruth 1: 6-17 followed by meditation and prayer.

Mrs. Herman Porter, secretary, read the report of the last meeting and also a card of appreciation from the Ray Harden family. The treasurers report was read and approved and the group voted a contribution to the Bible School literature and also a contribution to the Youth Choir for their skating party. They also voted to buy new letters for the bulletin board.

Plans were made for the upcoming sale dinners in May and generous donations were given by those present. It was announced that the Friendship Class will serve the Easter Sunrise Breakfast at the church. Maundy Thursday services will be held at the Five Points Church and Good Friday service will be held at Derby. Cards of cheer were signed by the group to be sent to those in hospitals and shut-in.

For the program Mrs. O'Day read, "God Has Been Good to Me" and "What is Inspiration?" and Mrs. Clarence Finch read, "Spring Fever". Mrs. See then presented a recording, "I Wish I Would Know How It Would Be To Be Free". The meeting closed with prayer by Laura Long.

Seasonal refreshments were served by Mrs. See assisted by Miss Laura Long and Mrs. Phil Swan.

Kelly Kern spent Wednesday until Saturday as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. James Louder and daughter, Jean, of Berea. They attended the play, "How to Succeed in Business" at Berea High School, visited Baldwin Wallace College and went to classes at school Thursday and Friday. This was all arranged through the A. F. S. Miss Louder had spent the first of the week with the Kern's.

Keith and George Kern, members of the Boy Scout Troup, spent the weekend on a campout at the Dale Stubbs Pond. A wet but fun time was had by all.

Karen Streitenberger spent Saturday night and attended a movie in Columbus with Mr. and Mrs. George Kern and daughter Kelly.

Mildred Davis, a member of the "Ohio Council of Teachers of Mathematics" spent Saturday in Columbus attending a Mathematics Conference at the Bexley High School.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Daughter Wants To Know

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and reasonably well adjusted although I grew up without a father.

My mother told me that a few months after she married my father he was killed in the war. It didn't take too much intelligence to figure out that if my father had really been killed in the war he would have been considered a hero in the eyes of his widow, and she'd have kept his memory alive with pictures, letters and souvenirs to be shared with his family. It also seemed strange to me that I had never met one relative on my father's side.

I have concluded that I am illegitimate. Believe me, I love my mother and I am not judging her regardless of what the facts were, but I would like to know who my father was. Should I ask my mother?

CURIOUS DAUGHTER
DEAR CURIOUS: You say you "love" your mother, and I'm sure you do. For 30 years you've given her no reason to suspect that you doubted her explanation. Leave it that way, dear.

Dear Abby: I have a 14-year-old daughter who is so boy crazy she worries me sick. All she thinks about is boys. She's got boys' names written all over her books. And every piece of paper by the telephone is marked up with initials and boys' names.

When the doorbell rings she runs like lightning to talk to any delivery boy it happens to be.

What really bothers me is she lies. I don't allow her to go in cars with boys so she walks to a girl's house and the boys meet her with a car there. I found this out by reading her diary. I asked her for the truth and she lied to cover up her lies. How can I get the truth out of her?

MRS. G.
DEAR MRS. G.: The only reason children lie is because they haven't the courage to tell the truth. Give your daughter that courage by assuring her that no matter what she has done you will understand and forgive her. Perhaps your threats are too frightening and your punishment too severe. Give your child plenty of love and expect the best, and you'll rarely be disappointed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old single woman. I am reasonably happy and normal in every respect, and believe it or not, I am not desperate to get married. Nobody can believe this.

I have several relatives who are determined to find a husband for me. They have given my telephone number to dozens of men, from 25 years old to 60! I've been called by widowers, bachelors, and men who have been married from one to five times! I have dated any number of these strangers and have found them to be boring, presumptuous, arrogant, immature, and in general a waste of time.

When a friend suggests a blind date, I ask the friend to invite both of us to a party so we can meet. But with relatives giving my phone number to every Tom, Dick, and Harry, I am on the spot unless I say, "I'm going with someone," and I hate to lie.

So, what can I do about these well-meaning relatives?

NOT THAT DESPERATE
DEAR NOT: Treat them as friends, and ask them to invite you and the man they had in mind to a party. Or if a stranger calls who sounds interesting, make a coffee date with him. That way you won't have to invest in a lot of time on a pig in a poke, and he won't invest a lot of money on a gamble.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "S" IN ROSEBURG, ORE.: Tell your "ex" that the key to your home does not go with visitation privileges to see the children, so please return the key. And if he doesn't, have your locks changed.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Easter Is Believing' Topic For Garden Club Devotions

Solaqua Garden Club met Friday at the Ashville Coffee Shop with Mrs. C. W. Hedges and Mrs. Albert Newlon as hostesses.

Mrs. Clyde Herron, president, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Clark McFarland led the devotions with reading passages of Scripture from Revelations, chapter 1 verse 18 and Philippians, chapter 1, verse 21, from a Bible published in 1832 and handed down in her family for several generations.

Her topic was "Easter Is Believing." She explained the origin of the words, Easter, Lent and Good Friday, and related each step of the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Jesus Christ. She also read the poem "How Do I Know" and closed devotions with prayer.

A cross and a vase of Easter lilies was placed at the head of the table, symbolic of the Easter season.

During the business meeting Mrs. Herron read an invitation to a Daffodil Show on April 21st and 22nd at Granville.

The club voted to give donations to the Cancer Society and the Soil and Water Conservation Division.

Mrs. Charles Huston and Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh volunteered to finance the placement of the club's meeting dates in the Westfall School calendars which is one of the school's yearly projects.

Following the business meeting,

Mrs. Albert Newlon read a paper compiled by Miss Mary Shortridge on "Wild Flowers In The Spring." As the names and descriptions of each flower was read, pictures of each were shown by Mrs. Herron from books, "Wild Flowers Of America" edited by Mary Vaux Walcott and Dorothy Falcon Platt, and "Field Guide Of Wild Flowers" by Roger Lory Peterson and Margaret McKenny. Mrs. Herron closed the meeting by reading the poem "Spring."

During the social hour refreshments were served by the personnel of the Coffee Shop to members and the following guests: Mrs. Clark McFarland, Mrs. Nelson Florence and Mrs. John Hedges.

Mrs. Charles Huston displayed a basket of many varieties of daffodils.

Hostesses for the May meeting will be Mrs. Elzie Brooks and Mrs. Howard Koch.

Answers To Questions About Social Security

(Q.) My brother, who's 49, can't work because of a heart condition. He gets income every month from a small apartment that he rents, and he claims he can't get disability benefits from social security because of this rental income. Is he right?

(A.) No. Even though your brother has rental income, he can get monthly social security disability payments if he is found eligible for them. Have your brother call, write, or visit any social security office as soon as possible to apply.

(Q.) My father will soon be 65 and he's trying to decide whether he wants medical insurance coverage under Medicare. Would medical insurance help pay for medical services he might receive in a hospital even though he was not admitted to the hospital as a bed patient?

(A.) Yes. Medical insurance helps pay for outpatient hospital services such as laboratory and other diagnostic services, X-ray and other radiology services, emergency room services, and medical supplies such as splints and casts.

If your father wants any more information about Medicare, he should call, write, or visit any social security office.

(Q.) I'm 63, and I've worked part time ever since I was married over 30 years ago. My husband is only 62 and doesn't plan to retire until he's 65. Do I have to wait until he retires to get monthly social security payments?

(A.) Probably not. You can collect monthly checks now on your own earnings record if your work was covered by social security and you earned enough credits to qualify. You should get in touch with the social security office for this district, at 606 Cental Center in Chillicothe.

(Q.) When I retire this fall at 62, I'll have a large lump-sum payment coming to me for accumulated vacation leave earned during my last year of work. However, I won't actually receive this payment until about 2 months after I retire. When I apply for social security payments, do I include this lump-sum payment in my estimate of earnings for this year?

(A.) Yes. Your payment for accumulated vacation leave will be counted as wages earned in the last month you actually worked and will not affect your monthly social security checks for months after you retired.

Ask Delay Confirming PUCO Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate has been asked to postpone the confirmation of Edmund J. Turk as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio pending completion of an investigation expected to resume today by the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections.

The board is investigating accusations against Turk, former Democratic president of Cleveland City Council.

Turk has been accused of tearing up petitions that were circulated last year by civic groups seeking to reduce the number of Cleveland council seats.

The investigation was closed last January when the county prosecutor said there was insufficient evidence. However, the case was reopened when Republican Secretary of State Ted Brown broke a deadlock in the board of elections by voting to continuing the probe.

Turk was sworn in as commission chairman Tuesday pending action on his nomination by the Senate.

Sen. Paul Matia, R-25 Westlake, Tuesday asked that the Senate delay confirmation. He said board action on the probe had been thwarted by legal action. But he said a court order has allowed the investigation to begin again.

Senate Vote Panel Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A resolution naming a select committee to make a recommendation in the disputed election between Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, and former Republican Sen. Robin Turner of Marion was to go before the Senate today.

Scheduled to be named to the committee were Sens. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington; Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton; Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati; Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, and David Headley, D-28 Barberton.

Slagle beat Turner by 152 votes in the November election, but Turner argued that names were improperly rotated on the ballot in Marion County, one of eight counties in the district.

Slagle has argued the evidence proves there was no fraud and that improper rotation of names is not a valid reason to declare the election void in Marion County.

The Ohio Supreme Court gathered evidence in the case and turned it over to the Senate, which has the power to rule upon seating of its members.

BancGroup Earnings Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—First quarter earnings of $3.2 million, a 17.2 per cent increase over the same period last year, were reported Tuesday by First Banc Group of Ohio, Inc.

Colleges Ponder Drop In Enrollment

NEW YORK (AP) — The end of the draft, higher fees and tuitions and a phenomenon called "stopping out" are causing a dramatic slowdown in enrollment growth at the nation's colleges and universities.

A recent analysis of enrollment data by the National Education Association suggested enrollments would decline for seven years after 1978, with only moderate increases until then.

Last fall, 8.3 million students were in college but the 180,000 new students represented only a 2 per cent increase over 1971 and the smallest annual jump since 1957.

One reason for the decline may be changing attitudes towards higher education.

New Jersey's Education Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan labels the phenomenon "stopping out." He refers to young people taking leave of the classroom to "get their heads together" by traveling or working.

This tendency to "stop out" may be encouraged by liberalized policies at a number of four-year schools permitting deferred admission for freshmen and guaranteed readmission to upperclass students.

Dr. John R. Tabb, director of institutional studies at Old Dominion University, said he thought college costs and lack of pressure from the draft were key factors in enrollment dropoff.

Census Bureau figures back him up, showing college attendance among young men fell to the lowest level in eight years last fall.

Money also appears to be a factor in the enrollment trend.

The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education noted applications to eight Ivy League colleges rose sharply in 1971 after declining the previous year.

At the same time state universities received the fewest freshmen applications in 19 years.

The commission interpreted these conflicting events as indicating well-to-do families could afford the $5,000 annual cost of educating their children at Ivy League schools but the $2,000 annual cost for a student living at a state university was "out of reach for many middle-income families."

Historically, the United States has had an increasing proportion of its colleges-age population at colleges or universities—from 1.7 per cent in 1869-1870 to 50.3 per cent in 1969.

Dungan of New Jersey believes that above the 50 per cent level "you tend to get a less committed group and any little thing may knock them off — money, competing responsibilities and interests."

"There is a definite leveling off in enrollments," says a spokesman for the American Association of College Admissions Counselors. A survey by that group projects a 2 per cent increase in enrollment next fall despite a 2.4 per cent hike in high school graduates this June.

Other surveys and reports support that conclusion.

Garland G. Parker, a researcher based in Cincinnati, Ohio, surveyed first-year applications at 876 colleges and universities and found a 3.1 per cent average drop for the current academic year.

A recent survey of the nation's state universities and land-grant colleges showed a 9 per cent decrease in enrollments last fall at Southern Illinois University; and 8 per cent drop at Wayne State; a 2.5 per cent decline at Montana State; and a 2.4 per cent dip at the University of Minnesota.

However, Ivy League schools and New York universities, which experienced enrollment declines for three straight years, expect more freshmen next September.

City Fire Codes Provide Common Sense Safe Ways To Dispose Of Spring Trash

With the arrival of spring when many persons will be engaged in cleaning homes, yards and gardens, special attention must be given to burning regulations of the city of Circleville, warns Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe.

Paper, rubbish or trash which does not give off noxious or foul odors may be burned within the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

For safety reasons, fires should not be started on windy days.

Chief Wolfe advises that all burning of any materials are to be confined within an incinerator of metal or masonry with sufficient grating or perforation in the bottom or sides to support proper combustion.

The spark arrester coverings or combustion air holes must not be over one-half inch in diameter. Further, Wolfe cautions, the incinerator must not be placed within 20 feet of any building or anything combustible.

Many different types of incinerator may be approved by the fire chief. The only necessary items for an approved incinerator are that they be of a noncombustible material with air access for proper combustion and have a spark arrester covering.

No one is permitted to burn refuse, garbage, roofing, rubber tires or materials that give off an offensive smoke or foul odor.

If trash or rubbish is to be burned in other ways besides in an incinerator, a special permit must be obtained from the fire department. The fire must be at least 50 feet from any other building or combustible material and the builder of the fire must maintain a watch on it.

These suggestions from the Circleville Fire Chief will make spring cleaning days safer.

Shaul May Seek Ted Brown's Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While he has not yet discussed the matter with Gov. John Gilligan, state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul said Tuesday there's a good chance he will seek the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in next year's elections.

"I think it's likely I'm going to run and most likely that I'm going to run for that," said Shaul, a former Akron city councilman.

The office currently is occupied by Ted W. Brown, a Republican.

Real Estate Bill Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill requiring real estate salesmen to complete 30 hours of classroom instruction before taking a test for a license was introduced into the Ohio House today.

The bill, introduced by Reps. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, and M. Joan Douglas, R-61 Mansfield, came in the wake of the controversy surrounding how former Gov. James A. Rhodes obtained a real estate broker's license four days before leaving office.

Rhodes also obtained either brokers' or salesmen's licenses for several key aides. Department of Commerce Director Dennis B. Shaul currently is investigating how they were obtained.

The House passed 81-4 a bill permitting city councils to give pay raises to policemen and firemen who improve their education.

It also approved, 86-0, a bill giving the Highway Patrol authority to investigate and enforce laws relating to the titling of motor vehicles.

Kingston News

Mrs. Robert Eiseman of Columbus was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks, and Joe Jr. Kimberly Eiseman returned home with her mother after spending the weekend with her grandparents.

Mrs. Mamie Anderson of Circleville was a Sunday afternoon caller at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edwards and sons. Mrs. Anderson has moved back to Circleville after living in Indiana for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Betz, Mrs. Glen Ross and Mrs. Laura Schneider were dinner guests of Mr. Roy Ross at a Laurelville restaurant Sunday.

Dave Seymour of Laurelville left March 23 for National Guard Training at Ft. Ord, Calif., and will complete the training at a base in Texas in May. His wife is the former Debbie Lines and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Merl Seymour, also of Laurelville. Mrs. James Seymour of Kingston is his grandmother. Dave's address is: Pvt. 2 Dave Seymour 270-56-5680, D-2-1, Plat. 1, Ft. Ord, Calif. 93941.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolfe of Des Moines, Iowa are spending a few days at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Irene Smith. Their planned departure for home on Monday morning was delayed by a phone call from their daughter, telling them of the severe snow storm that had already halted traffic in that area.

Among other callers at the Smith home during the weekend were Mrs. Olive Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Kelley and Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold, Mr. Nicholas Kelley and Tim, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Timmons and Mr. and Mrs. Dane Patrick, all of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kelley and son of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Whitten and son, Tim were Saturday evening dinner guests of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Mc-Carty and children, Shawn and Chad. The occasion marked the birthdays of Chad McCarty, who was five, and Mrs. Whitten.

Jamie Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones and James Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis have been named by the Kingston American Legion Post 291, to attend Boys State this summer. Both boys are juniors at Zane Trace High School.

Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mrs. Bessie Smith and Miss Floretta Smith were Mrs. Edith Seimer and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seimer and daughters of near Circleville.

John Ralston, representing the Kingston Improvement Association; Gordon Lloyd, Commander of Post 291, American Legion and Ronald Leadingham from the Kingston-Greene Township V.F.D., accepted certificates of appreciation in behalf of their organizations from the Kingston Civic Club Tuesday night when it met at the home of Mrs. Larry Street.

Mrs. Ronald Leadingham, Mrs. Donald R. Mallow and Mrs. Street were appointed a committee to choose some new playground equipment for the park. Mrs. Donald Jones and Mrs. Glenn Congrove reported on Legislation Day they attended in Columbus recently and explained the discussions they heard concerning two issues, "The Energy Crisis" and "The State Lottery". The month of April was designated as 'go to church' month and they will attend in a body. The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Congrove.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller were called to Dayton last weekend by the illness of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sam Miller.

Members of the Kingston American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 291 and their guests had a covered dish dinner before the meeting last Tuesday night to celebrate the anniversary of the organization.

Plans were made for a yard and bake sale at the Legion Home on May 12 beginning at 9 a.m. Poppies will also be sold that day by the Girl Scouts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Roger Karshner and Mrs. Lyman Dresbach Jr.

Girl Scout Troop 715 met Tuesday at the Kingston Community Action Center with their two leaders, Mrs. Glenn Congrove and Mrs. Tom Manning and elected the following officers: president, Paula Hickman; vice president Leah Miller; secretary Jennifer Congrove; treasurer Pam Evans; news reporter Connie Keaton and recreation leaders, Kelley Dyer and Belinda Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Delong, their two daughters, Mrs. Fred Duve and Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. Carol Baker and Mrs. O. H. Targee were in Cincinnati Wednesday and attended the 50-50 Club at WLW-TV.

Mrs. James Seymour had Sunday dinner with her son, Merl Seymour and family at their home in Laurelville. Callers at her home in Kingston Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown and their niece from Dayton.

"Property Taxes — What's Ahead" was the topic for discussion when the Ross County Farm Bureau Study Group 4 met at the home of Mrs. James R. Tootle Sr. Monday night Mrs. E. V. Graves, program chairman was in charge of the discussion.

There was a reminder of the Diabetic Testing Clinic to be held in Ross County villages this week and urged all to take advantage of it. Present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dean, Mrs. F. H. Cryder, Mr. George Grimes, Mr. Wayne Cryder, Mrs. Russell Bowsher Mr. James Tootle Jr. and Mrs. Mildred Armstrong.

Ohioans Linked To Wounded Knee

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — When 30 northwestern Ohio families travelled to Wounded Knee, S.D., six years ago to build a church, they never expected their teepee-type temple to be the site of a 1973 Indian uprising.

One hundred persons, mostly members of the East Foulke Avenue Church of God of Findlay, spent a hot July in 1967 nailing together telephone poles to form the octagonal church which housed negotiations between Indians and government officials at embattled Wounded Knee reservation.

"The uprising came as a kind of surprise to all of us. It is such a small community. From what I read, and knowing the people there, those who are causing this uprising had to come in from some place else," said Earl F. Pruitt, the construction leader.

Phyllis Miles, whose husband and three daughters travelled west for the project, said, "It is a shame they live the way they do. I thought it was unfair things couldn't be done to help them."

"I feel they have been wronged. Something should be done about it," she said.

The missionary project first emerged in 1965 when the congregation looked for a benefit program. Two years later, after Pruitt spent an Easter at the reservation, the Findlay families set out west in a 30-car caravan.

Rural Caucus Of Democrats Organized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A band of freshman Democrats hopes to give the House farm bloc a new twist and a stronger voice and to prove there's more to rural life than agriculture.

Ten of them have organized the Democratic Rural Caucus and one of the leaders, Rep. Charlie Rose of North Carolina, predicts steady growth in numbers and in influence.

The caucus expects to demonstrate its solidarity in a House vote today on the question of overriding President Nixon's veto of a rural water and sewer program.

The caucus, Rose said in an interview, is an exercise in the theory that strength lies in unity and numbers.

"We're putting a choir together. We think we sing some of the same tunes, and we just want to practice our singing," he said.

The idea developed when Rose and another freshman Democrat, Clem McSpadden of Oklahoma, talked over the problems of their rural constituents, discovered similarities, and wondered why there was no formal House structure to bring together congressmen with like constituencies.

With Rose and McSpadden as the core, the caucus was formed last month. About 100 other House Democrats from largely rural districts have been invited to join.

Rose said the group will be financed with voluntary contributions from members.

It will draw no funds from the farm-organization lobbies, he said, because "we would all want to stay as far away from any special-interest involvement as we could."

Local Government Funds Distributed

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today a total of $4,525,518.51 was available for distribution in April to local political subdivisions under the local government fund.

Pickaway County will receive $9,046.25 and Circleville $246.12. By act of the last legislature, local government fund moneys are derived from taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of sales, corporate franchise and personal income taxes on a monthly basis, the auditor said.

Pollution from factories, heating plants and motorboats has eaten away at marble sculptures and darkened the canvases of masterpieces in Venice.

The Ohioans put up the teepee-like church with little Indian help.

"The adults were very apprehensive," said Pruitt, "At night they would look at the progress, but they wouldn't actually get involved. We just didn't get to communicate with that many."

"It seemed they were so disinterested in life. Maybe this uprising will start them thinking more. Maybe they thought it was such a big task, there was no way to get any improvements," said Shirley Dewey, whose family of three were among the church-builders.

Pruitt says, "I have mixed emotions

Harrison Twp. Firemen Get Emergency Medical Training

During the past five weeks members of the Harrison Township Fire Department, Ashville, have been receiving instruction in Emergency Medical Service skills.

The instruction is planned to provide accident prevention and life saving in Harrison Township, and in Madison and Walnut Townships if fire and emergency levies there receive a favorable vote in the May 8 election.

According to a report from the instructor, Franklin Twp. firefighter, Daryle K. Oakes, the class has completed thirty of the required sixty hours training.

The men are attending the classes on their own time since the service is a volunteer organization. The training is about the whole thing. The Indians needed a little spunk, but I'm not in favor of militancy.

"I would think that if something could happen there, at least of an honorable nature, it could be good for all of us. It could give the Indians the courage they need to go out and help themselves," he said.

provided as part of the public service program of the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the State Department of Education, in cooperation with the Teays Valley Board of Education, and Harrison Township Trustees.

This training program operates in conformance with standards established cooperatively by the Division of State Fire Marshall, the Insurance Services Office of Ohio, the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service, the State Fire Advisory Committee, a State Medical Advisory Committee, Ohio Department of Health, Ohio Department of Highway Safety, and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Ohio's Tax Windfall Explained

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's economy depends in part on how many autos roll off the assembly line in Detroit, the Senate Ways and Means Committee was told Tuesday.

Finance Department officials used that reasoning to explain how the personal income tax will bring in an unexpected $118 million over the next two years while sales tax receipts will fall $45 million.

John Bowman of the Department of Taxation said Detroit is headed for its third record breaking sales year and past history indicates sales will fall during the next two years.

The reason for the income tax windfall, Tax Commissioner Robert J. Kosydar said, is because "the economy is growing at a faster rate than we originally estimated."

Kosydar said the original estimates for the $9.7 billion budget for the next biennium was made in January, using figures arrived at in November.

Gov. John J. Gilligan has proposed spending half of the new money, $55 million, for local public schools and $34.7 million for universities. The rest would go to service programs.

He asked that the $13.7 million surplus in welfare payments be left within the Department of Welfare to boost the level of support for Aid to Dependent Children recipients.

The extra money in welfare, he said, came about because of fewer ADC recipients. The federal government would match state funds for the program.

Prater Makes Statement

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — William J. Prater, convicted of murder in the 1969 slayings of United Mine Workers reformer Joseph A. Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter, has given authorities a handwritten statement detailing his knowledge of the killings, sources close to the case said today.

The statement, which Prater was said to have written in his cell shortly after an Erie County jury last month convicted him of three counts of first-degree murder March 26, "brings us a step closer to the top" in the killings, one source said.

The sources said the statement does not directly mention former UMW President W.A. "Tony" Boyle in connection with the slayings.

School In California Named Martin Bormann Officially Dead For Circleville Native

A school in Huntington Beach, Calif., has been named for a Circleville native, the late Isaac L. Sowers.

New Energy Sources Eyed By Battelle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Battelle Memorial Institute Tuesday announced a $25 million research project geared to finding new energy sources.

Battelle President Sherwood L. Fawcett said the project will focus on new ways of synthesizing coal into gas, and on uses of solar energy.

The study was announced to a private meeting of Ohio congressional leaders earlier this week. It came just as a task force of the House Science and Astronautics Committee reported the nation must be ready to spend an extra $1 billion a year to develop new energy sources.

The task force said coal promises to be the best short-term solution to the energy crisis. Coal reserves in the U.S. are estimated at 1.6 trillion tons, enough to last 800 years.

Fawcett said that although coal is plentiful, the electric utilities industry is turning to oil as the quickest and most certain way to meet air pollution standards.

Consequently, "the United States is rapidly approaching a critical energy situation domestically that will continue for the next 20 years," he said.

Fawcett said the technological discoveries from the study would be made available for general use. Battelle is currently using a $4 million grant from the Department of the Interior for research in the same area.

Battelle is a multinational organization devoted to scientific research and development. Its main offices are in Columbus.

24th National Book Awards Are Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — National Book Award judges have named dual winners in the fiction and history categories for the first time in the 24-year history of the literary prizes.

Sharing the fiction prize were "Chimera," by John Barth, and "Augustus," by John Williams. Barth and Williams are professors of English.

The history prize was split between "The Children of Pride: A True Story of Georgia and the Civil War," by Robert Myers, and "Judenrat: The Jewish Councils in Eastern Europe Under Nazi Occupation," by Isiah Trunk.

The National Book Committee announced the awards—considered the book world's equivalent of movie Oscars—in 10 categories at a news conference on Tuesday. Each award is worth $1,000.

Other winners chosen from 109 nominees were:

Contemporary Affairs—"Fire in the Lake," by Frances Fitzgerald.

Arts and Letters—"Diderot," by Arthur M. Wilson.

Biography—"George Washington: Anguish and Farewell (1793-1799)," by James Thomas Flexner.

Science—"The Serengeti Lion: A Study of Predator-Prey Relations," by George S. Schaller.

Poetry—"Collected Poems: 1951-1971," by A.R. Ammons.

Philosophy and Religion—"A Religious History of the American People," by Sidney E. Ahlstrom.

Children's Books—"The Farthest Shore," by Ursula K. LeGuin.

Translation—"The Aeneid of Virgil," translated by Allen Mandelbaum.

Owens-Corning Notes Large Earnings Boost

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. announced Tuesday record first quarter earnings of $11.6 million, a 70 per cent improvement over the $6.8 million in the same period of 1972.

Consolidated net sales were $167.6 million, compared with $137.8 million for the first quarter of 1972, a 22 per cent increase.

Crash Proves Fatal

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — William Lozier, 18, of West Salem died late Tuesday afternoon in a two-car accident on U.S. 42 in Ashland County near the Wayne-Ashland County line.

He was a teacher in the Huntington Beach School district from 1963 until his death Jan. 25, 1969.

Sowers was born in Circleville the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sowers Sr. His father survives in Chicago, Ill. He attended Circleville schools but enlisted in the United States Navy during World War II before his graduation.

After discharge from the navy, he completed high school at Banning High School in Wilmington, Calif. He attended Long Beach City College and received his BA degree from Pepperdine College in 1952. He did graduate work at Long Beach State.

The Isaac L. Sowers Intermediate School is essentially five separate buildings under one roof. Currently under construction it is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1973.

Sowers has two brothers living in Circleville, Kenneth Jr., 605 Mowrer Road and Marion, 129 Logan St., two in Columbus, Wilson and Robert. He is also survived by his widow, Margaret, Huntington Beach.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The West German government officially closed its books on Martin Bormann today when the Frankfurt attorney general ruled that a skeleton recently unearthed was "with certainty" the remains of Hitler's long missing deputy.

"Martin Bormann died on May 2, 1945, between 1 and 3 a.m. on the Invalidenstrasse railroad bridge (in Berlin) a short time after his accomplice Adolf Hitler," Attorney General Horst Gaus said.

He ordered that the 28-year search for Bormann be terminated and the warrant for his arrest lifted.

Gaus told a news conference that if anyone is arrested on suspicion that he is Bormann, "we will be dealing with an innocent man."

Reports of Bormann being seen have come repeatedly from foreign coun-

Recruiter Tests Mailing Results

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Last month M.Sgt. Charles Dowdy, a recruiter at Lockbourne Air Force Base, decided to conduct an experiment to determine if recently-discharged men were reading the literature he mails out.

So he put a $1 personal check in each of 50 letters containing such material as recruiting information and announcements of veterans' benefits.

To date, Dowdy said, one check has been cashed, two have been returned because of changes in address and one has been sent back with a "no thanks" note attached.

And the other 46? "Your guess is as good as mine," Dowdy said, but adding he suspected the letters were discarded as junk mail.

tries since 1945, but none have been confirmed, West German embassies and missions abroad now will be directed to ignore any further reports.

War criminal hunter Simon Wiesenthal attended the news conference and told newsmen that he was 99 per cent satisfied that the skeleton unearthed in West Berlin last December was Bormann's. But he expressed one per cent continuing doubt, saying "there are still hairs in the soup."

Beachwood Girl Killed

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Lori Bregman, 14, of Beachwood, was killed and four other persons were injured in a two-car crash on Interstate 71, just north of Ohio 314 in Morrow County late Tuesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Minster Youth Dead

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP) — Timothy Nagel, 19, of Rt. 1, Minster, was killed and four others were injured early today in a one-car crash on Ohio 274, two miles west of New Bremen.

Gauf and investigator Joachim Richter based their conclusion on:

1. A comparison of the skeleton's teeth with an old sketch from Bormann's dentist.
2. Skull and bone measurements.
3. The discovery of mended fractures in an arm and collarbone, fractures such as Bormann had suffered.
4. Reconstruction of Bormann's face on the basis of the skull of the skeleton.
5. Discovery of glass splinters from a capsule like those used by leading Nazis to commit suicide by cyanide poisoning.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return 1972 Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) Because my husband and I both work, we have a maid come in to clean up and to be there when our child comes home from school. Can we deduct the maid's salary as a child care expense?

(A) You can deduct expenses for ordinary and usual household services if they are employment related and if you meet the other requirements for this deduction.

For more information on these requirements, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue District office.

(Q) I pay my sister $10 a week to take care of my child while I go out to work. Are these payments deductible as child care expenses?

(A) No. Payments made to relatives or dependent household members may not be included in computing the child care deduction. Such persons include: children, stepchildren, brothers or sisters, stepbrothers or sisters, parents, stepparents, nephews or nieces, aunts or uncles and in-laws.

(Q) What kind of medical expenses are deaf persons likely to deduct?

(A) Some medical expenses deaf persons are likely to deduct include: payments for hearing aids and component parts; guide dog expenses; the cost of sending a deaf person to school to learn to lip-read (including meals and lodging); and the cost of special telephone equipment which enables a deaf person to communicate effectively over a regular telephone via converted teletype signals.

Among the other items that may be deducted as medical expenses are unreimbursed medical insurance premiums (one-half, up to $150, directly, the balance subject to the general limitations on medical expenses) and bus and taxi fares or the cost of driving to and from the doctor.

Remember medical expenses are deductible only if you itemize and, except for the special rule for medical insurance premiums, may be deducted only to the extent they exceed three per cent of your income. For more information, see IRS Publication 502, "Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses." Just use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

(Q) I took a new job out of state and had to move. What moving expenses can I deduct?

(A) If you qualify, you can deduct as moving expenses: 1) travel expenses (including meals and lodging) from your old residence to your new one; 2) the cost of moving household goods; 3) the cost of premove househunting trips; 4) the cost of temporary quarters at the new location during any period of 30 consecutive days after obtaining work; and 5) the cost of selling your residence.

For details on the limitations and requirements for the moving expense deduction, see IRS Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses." For a free copy, fill out and mail the order blank on the back of your tax forms package.

(Q) Where can I get a copy of your official income tax guide?

(A) IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," is available for 75 cents at Internal Revenue offices, Government Printing Office bookstores and many post offices. For business taxpayers, IRS Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," may also be helpful. It may also be purchased for 75 cents at the same locations.

Kleindienst Defends Use Of Privileges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said Tuesday that a president's use of executive privilege "is a constitutionally founded, historically accepted and vital principle of American government."

"Insofar as the current executive-legislative relationship takes on a sharper edge because of Watergate, it must be borne in mind that determination of alleged violation of the criminal laws passed by Congress is uniquely the province of the judiciary," he continued.

Kleindienst voiced the Nixon administration's objections to proposed legislation as a new round of Senate subcommittee hearings began on presidential use of executive privilege to deny to Congress requested witnesses and documents.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the special Senate committee investigating last year's bugging at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate building here, said in opening remarks that it is "of the utmost necessity for the executive branch to cooperate with Congress in all honesty and candor" in an investigation of the Watergate affair.

Both Ervin's and Kleindienst's comments were released in advance of delivery.

President Nixon has refused to allow present or former White House aides to appear before Ervin's committee.

Ervin said Nixon's "refusal to cooperate presents his office in such a way as to reasonably engender in the minds of the American people that he is afraid of the truth."

Kleindienst said the claim of executive privilege dates from the administration of George Washington, adding that "virtually every president has had occasion to determine whether the disclosure of certain information to Congress is appropriate."

He quoted from Nixon's March 12 statement that "what is at stake ... is not simply a question of confidentiality but the integrity of the decision-making process at the very highest levels of government."

Juvenile Court Budget Fought

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Lake County Juvenile Court Judge Ross D. Avellone says the county commissioners rejected a budget compromise offer before he found them guilty of contempt of court.

Avellone, who phrased his 1973 juvenile court budget request of $386,380 in the form of a court order, said he offered to cut the figure to $342,000 when the commissioners appeared balky.

The commissioners also rejected that figure, appropriating $292,365, and Avellone found them in contempt of court. The three commissioners have appealed the ruling.

Rhodes Bid For Office Said Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes makes a bid for a third term next year, it will violate the "probable intention" of Ohio voters who approved a limitation on gubernatorial terms in 1954, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown said Monday.

In a brief filed with the Ohio Supreme Court, Brown compared the mood in Ohio with regard to gubernatorial terms with the mood in the nation to limit presidential terms following President Roosevelt's administration.

He noted the gubernatorial term limitation was approved in the middle of former Gov. Frank Lausche's fourth term.

"It would have been natural for the people of Ohio to relate the amendment upon which they were voting with the federal amendment and presume they were imposing a similar, though less harsh, restriction," the brief argued.

Ohio's constitution currently limits governors to two terms, but it doesn't specify whether the terms must be served consecutively or concurrently.

Attorneys for both sides have conceded the language of the law is vague to the extreme.

Oral arguments on the case are to be heard by the justices April 18.

Rhodes was governor from 1963 to 1971. On Jan. 24, he attempted to file petitions for the 1974 GOP gubernatorial primary only to be rebuffed on the constitutional question by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The Irish Republic was formally established on Jan. 21, 1919. On that date the First Assembly of Dail Eireann ratified the proclamation of the Irish Republic made on Easter Monday 1916 by the Republican Army acting on behalf of the Irish people and claimed international recognition for the independence of Ireland.

"There's nothing funny about losing."—Gene Mauch, April 10, 1973.

Perhaps not, but Mauch's Montreal Expos, the San Diego Padres, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Texas Rangers were sights to behold Tuesday night.

In classic displays of baseball futility, the Expos lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5, the Padres were crushed by the San Francisco Giants 11-2, the Dodgers bowed to the Houston Astros 4-3 in 12 innings and the Rangers were mauled by the Kansas City Royals 12-1. In a relatively well-played contest, the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2.

Six other games were postponed by a combination of snow and cold weather—Oakland at Chicago, Baltimore at Detroit and Boston at Milwaukee in the American League and Chicago at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Atlanta and New York at St. Louis in the National.

The Expos pulled their comedy act in the third inning when the Phillies scored four runs, three of them unearned.

It started innocently enough with walks to Mike Ryan and Denny Doyle and Steve Carlton's run-scoring single. But when center fielder Jorge Roque threw the ball past third base, Doyle also scored and Carlton reached second.

He didn't stop there, continuing on to third when catcher John Boccabella let third baseman Bob Bailey's throw get through for another error. Carlton stayed put on Larry Bowa's infield hit but scored when Bailey fielded Cesar Tovar's grounder and fired wildly to the plate. Deron Johnson's sacrifice fly completed the riotous inning and Willie Montanez put the game out of reach with a two-run homer in the fifth.

San Diego's pitching was funny enough in the first inning when the Giants used Ed Goodson's bases-loaded triple and Juan Marichal's two-run double to score six times. The fielders got into the act in the second—the Giants added a run on shortstop Enzo Hernandez' throwing error—and the rest of the infield brought the house down in the seventh.

With two runners aboard via singles, first baseman Nate Colbert, second baseman Dave Roberts and third baseman Dave Hilton booted successive ground balls for a couple of runs and Bobby Bonds followed with a two-run single.

In a manner reminiscent of their old Brooklyn days, the Dodgers ran into three outs on the basepaths and finally lost to Houston when rookie relief pitcher Jim Crawford drilled a two-out double off ex-Astro George Culver in his first time at bat in the major leagues to score John Edwards from first base.

The Rangers' mound staff helped dedicate Kansas City's new $43 million stadium by pitching batting practice for the Royals, including a two-run homer and two-run single by John Mayberry, doubles by Amos Otis, Fred Patek, Cookie Rojas and Keith Marshall and a triple by Otis.

The Angels and Twins stuck to baseball. Bill Singer, making his AL debut, scattered six hits and fanned 10 while Bobby Valentine hit a two-run single. Nothing much in the way of humor there.

Tommy Aaron's Quiet World Suddenly Hums

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The quiet world of golf's perennial bridesmaid has been shattered in the fulfillment of Tommy Aaron's lifetime dream—a Masters championship.

"My phone's been ringing off the wall," the curly-haired Aaron said Tuesday. "I've never had to worry about having an unlisted number like some of the fellows in the larger cities, but it's beginning to look like I might have to get one now."

Aaron, a 14-time runnerup with only one American victory in 13 years on the pro tour, was the center of attention in this north Georgia city of 40,000.

Thousands lined the streets in unseasonably cold weather to greet their latest hero along a three-mile parade route, part of a "Welcome Home Tommy Day" celebration hastily planned by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

The 36-year-old slow-talking Georgian earned a lifetime invitation to the Masters—one of the four major tests of golfing greatness—when he fired a four-under-par 68 in Monday's rain-delayed final round to record a one stroke victory over J. C. Snead.

"It's difficult to describe my feelings," he said. "It is the dream of a lifetime. My wife, my family, my friends have stood by me so long, through so many failures, maybe this is a way of paying them back."

Set Revival Of Ontario Speedway

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — The nation's granddaddy of race tracks and one of racing's biggest names joined forces to revive the $25.5-million, three-year-old Ontario Motor Speedway.

Pending expected approval from bondholders, a partnership including Indianapolis Motor Speedway and Parnelli Jones will reopen and operate the 700-acre racing plant "as soon as possible" Jones said.

City of Ontario officials gave unanimous approval Tuesday to the proposal for a rest-of-the-year lease with a 10-year option starting Next Jan. 1.

Jones, former Indianapolis 500-winning driver from Palos Verdes, Calif., who now builds race cars, and owns car and tire dealerships, said the first scheduled event will be the California 500 championship auto race on Sept. 2.

Jones and Tony Hulman, president of Indianapolis Motor Speedway, head the group called Ontario Motor Speedway Operating Company, Ltd. (OMSOC), which will try to rejuvenate the facility shut down except for tests since late last year.

Golden State Trips Bucks, 100-97

By HAL BOCK

Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry had the right idea when he tried to have Game 5 of the Bucks' National Basketball Association playoff series postponed.

Forced to play the game in Madison, Wis., after being evicted from their home court by a realtors show, the Bucks asked for the delay when a snowstorm prevented them from reaching their impromptu home for a workout.

Golden State beat the snow into Madison and held a two-hour practice. It must have helped, because the Warriors knocked off the Bucks 100-97

Tuesday night to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-7 quarter-final.

In the only other NBA game played Tuesday night, Los Angeles defeated Chicago 123-102 to take a 3-2 lead in that best-of-7 series.

There were no American Basketball Association playoff games scheduled Tuesday night.

Embry's request for the postponement was rejected by Golden State General Manager Bob Feerick and that decision was upheld by the NBA when Embry pursued his request with the league office.

Forced to play the game, the Bucks wound up wishing they hadn't. Rick Barry sank a layup and two free throws with 1:14 left to play, shutting off a Milwaukee comeback and helping the Warriors to the victory. Clyde Lee had 21 points and 16 rebounds for Golden State.

The Bucks, down by as many as 18 points, fought back to take the lead with just over two minutes left. But Mahdi Abdul-Rahman's layup restored Golden State's edge and then Barry's layup made it 98-95. Jon McGlocklin cut the lead to a single point with one minute left but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar missed a hook shot in the final 20 seconds. Lee grabbed the rebound and Barry's two foul shots settled the issue.

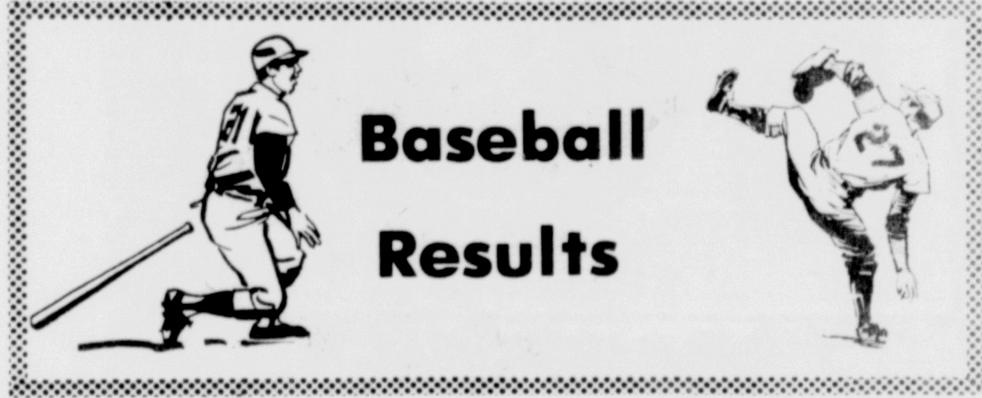

Golden State can finish the series with a victory at home Friday night. Los Angeles gets the same chance in Chicago the same night.

The Lakers ripped the Bulls with Jerry West contributing 36 points.

Chicago had wiped out an 18-point L.A. lead and held an 81-80 edge with 2:40 left in the third period. Then Keith Erickson hit for the Lakers and West strung seven straight points for an 89-93 lead that increased the rest of the way.

Wilt Chamberlain had 21 points and 29 rebounds for the Lakers.

In tonight's pro basketball action, Boston and Atlanta, tied at 2-2, play Game 5 of their NBA quarter-final and Kentucky meets Carolina in the opening game of their ABA semifinal.

ABA All-League Team Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Towering Artis Gilmore of Kentucky, Most Valuable Player Billy Cunningham of Carolina and Julius Erving of Virginia head the American Basketball Association 1972-73 All-League team announced today.

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2, 240-pound Colonels' center who led the league in rebounding, two-point field goal percentage and blocked shots for the second straight season, was the top vote collector. He received 55 first-team votes and one for the second team among 58 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. He had a total of 111 points on the basis of two points for a first-team vote and one point for second.

Cunningham, chosen Monday as the ABA's Most Valuable Player in his first season in the league, was named to a first-team forward berth on 50 ballots and a second-team spot on seven for 107 points.

Erving, the spectacular Squires' forward who averaged 31.9 points per game in winning the scoring title in only his second ABA season, finished just behind Cunningham in the voting with 106 points on 49 first-place votes and eight seconds.

Denver's Warren Jabali, with 87 points, and Utah's Jimmy Jones, with 81, were the first-team selections at guard.

Chosen to the second team were center Mel Daniels of Indiana, forwards George McGinnis of Indiana and Dan Issel of Kentucky, and guards Ralph Simpson of Denver and Mack Calvin of Carolina.

Others receiving votes were centers Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Billy Paulitz of New York, forwards Willie Wise of Utah, Joe Caldwell of Carolina and Rich Jones of Dallas, and guards Ron Boone of Utah, George Thompson and Johnny Neumann of Memphis, Louie Dampier of Kentucky, Chuck Williams of San Diego and Bill Melchionni of New York.

Pollys Pride Wins Feature At Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A 7-1 longshot paid $16.20, $6.80 and $3.80 and the daily double returned $257.50 at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

Pollys Pride, driven by Ralph Satterthwaite, posted a one-length victory in the feature race to upset the odds.

Cavaliers Make Progress, But Fitch Not Yet Content

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers have made steady progress in their three years in the National Basketball Association, but Coach Bill Fitch still isn't content.

"The nucleus is there," says Fitch, "but we have to make a few changes."

Fitch said he is pleased with the Cavs' steady progression from 15 to 23 and on to 32 victories, but he would like to "pick up another nine" next year to hit the .500 mark.

"That's because, if you're playing .500 ball in this league with 10 games to go in the season, anything can happen," he said. "You can make the playoffs."

Fitch said the road to being a contender "hasn't been an easy one" and "gets harder" as you get better.

"Three years ago, when we started with an expansion team, we came up with the slogan 'Never Surrender No Matter What The Odds,'" said Fitch.

"That's been typical of everyone who's put on a Cavaliers uniform," he said. "But now I think we're going to add another slogan—'We've come a long way, baby!'"

The Cavs came on strong after Jan. 1, splitting their final 44 games and winning seven of their last 11.

Fitch said those 11 contests enabled him to evaluate the club and decide what needed to be done to lift the team into playoff status.

The Cleveland coach credited a lot of the team's success to guard Larry Wilkens, who was acquired in an off-season trade and joined the club six games into the season.

"I've never known a truer, more loyal player," said Fitch. "He's dedicated to winning. I can't think of anyone else I'd rather have control the ball in the closing minutes of a game."

WEST COAST MEN BUY INTREPID—Three West Coast men have formed a syndicate to buy the Intrepid and they plan to enter the boat in the 1974 America's Cup competition. The Intrepid is a 12-meter yacht that won the America's Cup in 1967 and 1970.

Fishing Festival At Hargus Lake

The Hargus Lake Trout Festival will be co-sponsored by the Pickaway County Farmers and Sportsmen's Association and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, Saturday and Sunday.

Approximately 1,500 adult trout are to be stocked in the lake before the 9 a.m. starting time Saturday. Trophies will be awarded for various categories of angler success. The trophies will be provided by the Pickaway County Farmers and Sportsmen's Association.

Fishing licenses, bait and refreshments are available near the lake.

"Throwing a pot" is crafts talk for creating a pot on a potting wheel.

Woollet Leads Team To Bowling Triumph

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)— Lead by sensational southpaw Ron Woollet with a 760 total, the Thelma Masters team of Louisville, Ky., powered into first place in the regular team event at the American Bowling Congress tournament here Tuesday. Their total was 3,118.

Woollet, a 21-year-old salesman competing in his first ABC tourney, threw 259, 224 and 277. In his final game, Woollet opened with nine straight strikes.

2 Robbery Suspects Nabbed After Running Gun Battle

SALEM (AP)—Police officers staged a running gun battle with two men in a car speeding along I-76 and Ohio 43, arresting them after they crashed their car and fled on foot before Highway Patrol shotguns, officers reported.

Two men were treated at a Ravenna hospital, where a spokesman said they were in fair condition Tuesday night after the incident.

Neither law officers nor the hospital would identify the men, but a hospital spokesman said they were in their 20s and had said they were from Cleveland.

Two men armed with .38-caliber revolvers bound the owner of Williams Gun Shop in Salem, 57-year-old John Williams, and his wife, their daughter, and a customer, then took guns from the shop, police reported. Williams said nothing else was taken.

The customer, who wasn't identified, had been suspicious when the men came into the shop, Williams said, so had copied a license number.

The Highway Patrol spotted a car with that license and gave chase at the intersection of Ohio 43 and I-76, three miles south of Kent and about 20 miles west of Salem. The men in the car fired at the patrolmen, who returned the shots, the patrol said.

One civilian car was hit, but no one was injured, the officers said. They and a civilian witness said one car was forced off the highway and that the men fired to gain right-of-way from other drivers.

Lawyer Says McCord Knows No High-Level Conspirators

WASHINGTON (AP) — James W. McCord's lawyer says the convicted Watergate conspirator has no direct knowledge that any high-level official in President Nixon's reelection effort knew of plans to bug Democratic headquarters.
Talking to newsmen Monday, attorney Bernard W. Fensterwald indicated that most of McCord's second-hand information about planning the Watergate bugging operation came from G. Gordon Liddy, former counsel to the Committee for Re-election of the President.

Liddy was convicted with McCord, former security chief for the campaign, as a result of the wiretapping. But, unlike McCord, Liddy has refused to talk about Watergate with a federal grand jury.

Several stories based on news leaks have said McCord told a Senate committee investigating Watergate that various highlevel officials in the Nixon campaign and in the White House were at least aware of plans to wiretap Democratic headquarters in the Watergate building last June.
Presidential chief of staff H.R.

Haldeman, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and White House Counsel John W. Dean III, named in various news accounts, have denied any advance knowledge.
Fensterwald said McCord has firsthand knowledge about much on which he has testified, but does not know for a fact whether anyone higher than Liddy in the re-election apparatus was in-

WITCH DRAMA SCHEDULED — B. J. Sowers, assistant, and Jim Leckrone, director, prepare notes during the first rehearsal of "The Crucible." Arthur Miller's drama of the Salem witch trials of 1692 will come to life on the Roundtown Players stage next month.

Salem Witch Trials Studied As Players Prepare Drama

Although it would seem that the subject of witchcraft is enjoying renewed popularity, according to Pickaway County Librarian Eleanor Craig it has always been a prime topic of interest. Since the origin of the first library in Alexandria, Egypt in the third century B.C., books on witchcraft have been more popular than those on any other subject, she reports.

Roundtown Players' current interest in the subject is a historic one. Their forthcoming drama, "The Crucible,"

GTE Plans Major Cable Additions

Major cable additions in the northeast sector of the Laurelville Exchange and in the Amanda exchange were announced today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

Paul G. Diener, Circleville commercial manager, said the projects are designed to upgrade present services and to allow for future growth in the area.

Estimated cost of the Laurelville project is $22,000 and of the Amanda project $33,200.

"Cable will be buried where possible. This enhances the beauty of the landscape and reduces service outages due to severe weather conditions and auto accidents," Diener said.

The Laurelville exchange serves 1,022 telephones in a 106.3 square-mile area of Hocking, Pickaway, Ross and Vinton Counties. The Amanda exchange serves 1,511 telephones in a 95.4 square-mile area of Fairfield and Hocking Counties.

Business News

Three Nationwide Insurance agents will represent Pickaway County at a company sales convention April 25-27 at the Netherland Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati.

The agents are Thomas Downing of 161 W. Mound St., B. J. Thompson of 1022 Lynwood Ave., Circleville; and David Dresbach of Ashville.

Also attending will be H. Kirk Reed of 1805 Garwood Drive, Lancaster, district manager for Pickaway County.

About 1,400 persons from Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan will attend the three-day convention.

Veto Override Attempt Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the odds favoring the President, Congress hopes to even the score this week in this year's battle of vetoes.

Carrying the ball for the first time, the House scheduled a vote today on President Nixon's veto of a rural water and sewer-grant bill. The bill would direct the Nixon administration to spend about $120 million already appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30.

It was passed after the administration terminated the program by executive decree last January. The House approved it then 297 to 54, well over the two-thirds needed to override a veto. The Senate vote was 66 to 22.

But only last week the Senate couldn't muster a two-thirds vote to override a veto of a vocational-rehabilitation bill that passed originally 86 to 2.

Since it takes action by both the Senate and the House to upset a veto, the House didn't get a chance to vote on the first veto.

House Speaker Carl Albert said the support of about 50 Republicans would be needed if the water-sewage veto is to be overridden.

Aiding Nixon's case was Monday's announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz that $100 million will be made available immediately through government-backed loans to help build sewer facilities in rural areas. The money will come from private lending sources and the loans will be backed by government guarantees. The interest rate will be five per cent.

scheduled to open May 3, is based on the Salem witch trials of 1692.

Arthur Miller, Pulitzer Prize winning author of the drama, took some liberties, as increasing the age of Abigail Williams from 11 to 17, but the fate of each character in the play remains the same as that of his historic counterpart.

Cast and crew members researching the historic facts upon which this play is based are learning a great deal of history. They have discovered that the Salem victims were hanged not because they admitted being witches, but because they denied it. No one who confessed to being a witch was hanged.

Of the more than 150 accused, only 31 were condemned according to records. Of that number, 19 were hanged, eight were reprieved, two died in jail, one escaped and one was pressed to death.

Four years after the trials, the 12 jurors presented their written confession of error to the survivors of the condemned, asking their pardon.

This bit of history, unpleasant, but interesting and true, is the current project of the Players group. Rehearsals began Sunday, under the direction of Jim Leckrone and B. J. Sowers.

2 Bridges On Federal Black List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two West Virginia interstate bridges are included in a list the Federal Highway Administration has provided Congress of 61 obsolete or inadequate highway bridges that have been approved within the past two years for replacement.

The federal governments' share of the replacement cost is estimated at $153 million.

One of the bridges carries U.S. 60 over the Big Sandy River between Kenova, W.Va., and Catlettsburg, Ky. The cost of replacement would be $1,720,000 allocated through each state.

The second span carries U.S. 50 over the Ohio River between Parkersburg, W.Va., and Belpre, Ohio. The report said the cost would be $6,633,000 allocated through West Virginia and $5,027,000 through Ohio.

The U.S. 30 bridge has also appeared on a list of "worst bridges in the country" compiled by Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn.

An article written by Blatnik for last Sunday's issue of Family Weekly magazine said the 60-year-old bridge is crossed each day by some 10,000 cars but is closed to trucks because of a weight limit.

Nurse Home Problems Discussed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Strict standards, rising costs and low state reimbursement rates for Medicaid patients are endangering Ohio's nursing home industry, the Ohio Nursing Home Association warned today.

Association executive director Gary Shepherd called for passage of legislation raising the rate of reimbursement, particularly to intermediate care facilities.

Shepherd, at a news conference, noted nursing homes now have the option of seeking higher reimbursement by taking part in a new cost reporting program.

But he said the program involved preparation of voluminous forms which most intermediate care homes are not able to handle.

Shepherd said higher standards which cost more to meet are on the way and the state has stepped up enforcement of existing regulations. "These are just a few of the

More Citizens Complain

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — The city's community relations desk received 65,200 inquiries in 1972 as compared with 64,744 in 1971. Hal Pawson, director of public relations in charge of the desk, said, "Road maintenance was the major complaint."

regulations and increased pressures which nursing homes are facing, coupled with daily reimbursement rates which are approximately one sixth that of hospital reimbursement and even well below average rates for hotels and motels," Shepherd said.

He said nursing homes ought to get higher reimbursement rates without having to submit detailed cost reports.

Enrollment Wednesday For '73 City Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration will be held April 18 in Circleville City Schools, Superintendent Fritz F. Jacobs announced today.

Registration will take place at the following schools for students living within the indicated boundaries:

SOUTH COURT — For all pupils who live on Barnes Ave. and south.

MOUND STREET — For all pupils who live north of Barnes Ave. to and including Main Street.

ATWATER — For all pupils living north of Pleasant Street including Ridgewood.

NICHOLAS DRIVE — For all pupils living on Pontious Lane and east, including Nicholas Drive, Garden City, Knollwood Village and Northwood Park.

HIGH STREET — For all pupils living north of Main St. and south of Pleasant St.

Students residing in Wayne Twp. will enroll at South Court Street Elementary school.

Hours for registration at all schools except High Street will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for pupils whose last names begin with the letter "A" through "M" and from 1 to 3 p.m. for pupils whose last names begin with letter "N" through "Z".

At High Street, all students will enroll between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Parents should be prepared to present a birth certificate at the time of registration showing that the student will reach the age of 5 years on or before Sept. 30, 1973. Immunization records must be on file at the school no later than Sept. 5, 1973 — the first day of school.

Registration at the school indicated by boundaries does not guarantee attendance at that school, Superintendent Jacobs advises. Assignments are officially made in August.

Parents are urged to register eligible kindergarten students on April 18 and to have birth certificates ready at this time.

Proxmire Seeks U.S. Intelligence Cost Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the U.S. intelligence community employs about 148,000 persons and spends about $6.2 billion each year.

Renewing his call for drastic cuts in the cost of American spying and covert activities overseas, Proxmire urged James Schlesinger, new Central Intelligence Agency director, to make public the government's entire intelligence budget, which always has been secret.

Proxmire said he is not opposed to a first-rate American intelligence operation but does believe the intelligence establishment has swollen out of proportion to national defense needs and that congressional controls and restraints on it have eroded.

He said his cost and manpower estimates are not based on classified or official sources and noted that they depict the CIA as smaller in both personnel and budget than at least three other U.S. intelligence groups.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fruit growers across Ohio headed for orchards today to assess the damage from the latest damage from overnight freezing temperatures.

Overnight lows ranged from 24 degrees at Toledo Express Airport to 30 degrees at Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

Last month farmers survived an unseasonably cold spell after temperatures in the upper 60s and 70s prompted trees to bud prematurely.

"We're not a bit optimistic," Bob Davis, Hamilton County agricultural extension agent, reported Tuesday night as he prepared for the freezing weather.

Skies cleared over Ohio today as the storm that brought snow to the state Tuesday moved northeastward out of New England early today. Partly-cloudy skies were forecast for the state today, with lingering snow flurries ending in the northeast.

Highs were expected to range from the upper 30s to low 40s and lows tonight are expected to dip to freezing.

Warmer weather is forecast for the weekend with highs in the 50s Friday and 60s Sunday.

Highs Tuesday were mostly in the 30s, about 15 to 25 degrees below normal for this time of year. Most parts of the state reported traces of snow, although about an inch fell in higher elevations east of Cleveland to Youngstown.

Cleveland reports a total of 70 inches of snow this winter season, more than normal for the period.

Proposed State Park Land Is Purchased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Natural Resources Director William Nye said Tuesday the first 10 acres of a proposed 14,500-acre state park between Cleveland and Akron have been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. William Vandever of Bay Village for $22,000.

Nye said the proposed state park will be combined with Akron and Cleveland metropolitan park districts to provide nearly 20,000 acres of land along the 20-mile valley. He said the project has no connection with a bicentennial park proposed for the area currently by Gov. John Gilligan.

DYNASTY
FASHION
JEWELRY

The fastest growing prestige line of fine fashion jewelry is seeking part-time and full-time representatives in the Circleville area.

NO INVESTMENT
REQUIRED
You will be given over three hundred dollars worth of beautiful jewelry in a professionally-styled showcase. This elegant jewelry collection will be yours . . . to show and enjoy.

NO DOOR-TO-DOOR
You demonstrate and show our products in a pleasant, dignified environment. No canvassing. No inventory required. We handle most administrative details for you. Ideal for a woman who needs to choose her own working hours. No age limit. No sales experience required for part-time representatives. We provide training.

GENEROUS EARNINGS
This is an exceptional opportunity for ambitious women who would like to earn a substantial "second income". Or begin a full-time executive career in the fascinating jewelry industry. Our compensation plan is exceptionally generous and can lead to annual earnings into five figures.

SEE FOR YOURSELF
Our jewelry is of the finest craftsmanship and quality, and yet is reasonably priced. It has proved immensely popular where it has been introduced. But don't take our word for it. Call today to receive complete information describing the position we are offering. You'll receive a complimentary sample of our products at your private interview.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and evening for you to live according to your loftiest ideals and ambitions and to let those who are able to help you attain these goals know what they can do to be of service to you. Take the time and make the effort to delight those you like by compliments, courtesies.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can now have a wonderful day enjoying amusements you most like. Show more affection to your mate. Put those creative ideas to work and expand them. Avoid one who is unfriendly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever will now bring more harmony and happiness into your home. Entertaining others will show them what a fine personality you have. Dress in high style but with good taste and make everyone feel at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Being more expressive with allies and coordinating your efforts more intelligently is wise. Broaden your vision, aims. State your views to others simply and clearly. Do nothing to hurt anyone in any way.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you think along more prosperous lines financially, you find you can take steps in the right direction. Listen to the good ideas which banking institutions or business experts give you. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are magnetic and can improve your image socially and with the public in general. Group activities are fine. Be with the right people to give you a boost.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into those confidential affairs at which you are so adept and become more successful. Follow your intuition and you make big headway. Avoid one who is a hypocrite.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A dynamic and loyal friend now gives you fine advice on how to get ahead faster, solve your problems. Going to some group meeting can prove to be most worthwhile. Dress in good style, but don't wear fancy clothes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact a powerful person who can give you the support you need for your particular aims. Involve yourself in civic affairs that will add prestige. Show you can do a beautiful job.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day for getting out to new sites and people who can prove most interesting and beneficial for you. Secure the data you need and put it to good use. Avoid one who is pretty much of a pest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have many responsibilities but can now understand just how to handle them most efficiently. Closest tie gives you the backing you need. The p.m. can be particularly happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sit down with partners and figure out a way to make the future more profitable and happier as well. Get into the outside outlets that are most pleasing with others, also. Avoid one who is a drag.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get busy at that work ahead of you, but also work on some plan that will be profitable to you and associates as well. Stick-to-itiveness brings fine results now. Steer clear of an irate person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who thinks big and wants to become big, who has remarkable ideas that can become an actuality, bringing fame and fortune, provided the schooling is adequate and there is encouragement at home early in life. Whatever has to do with working with the public in general is fine, in big organizations, high places. Give a good grounding in religion and ethics.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you thank the Red Cross for its help during disasters? Three college students did it in two brief films that will start appearing on television stations around the country in May.

The films—one runs 30 seconds, the other a minute—are public service announcements that local Red Cross chapters will give television stations in the nation's top 50 markets.

They summarize how the Red Cross works during disasters and how it helped during last June's massive floods in the East that killed 134 persons.

The young filmmakers are radio-television students at Ithaca College in upstate New York. They are Harvey Zvansky, 22, the producer-writer; Bruce Levine, 21, the photographer; and Esther Grey, 20, the production assistant.

For Miss Grey, the work was more than an exercise in filmmaking. Her family, which lives in the Pennsylvania community of Kingston near Wilkes-Barre, was hit hard by the June floods; their home sustained heavy water damage.

Members of the Grey family appear in both films. Zvansky, a senior from Port Washington, N.Y., said the idea for the project came while he and Miss Grey were helping her family dig out after the flood.

"It was pretty bad then," he recalled. "There was no water, no electricity, no heat, no nothing. All there was the Red Cross running around with bottled water and sandwiches.

"But what the Red Cross people were doing was really appreciated. And it occurred to us, since we're film majors, why don't we make them a spot? It'd be a nice way to say thanks," Zvansky said.

Here's the new law, order and laughter lineup for next year:

CBS—"Calucci's Dept." and "Roll Out" will leave the CBS sitcom count steady at nine. "Cojak" raises the crime fight count by one, making it six. "Shaft," based on the movie about the black private eye, appears just once a month and isn't included in the tally of regular weekly series.

NBC—"Lotsa Luck," "Diana," "The Girl With Something Extra" and "Needles and Pins" boost the sitcom count from two to six. "Chase" and "Police Story" raise the law-and-order tally by one to a total of six.

ABC—Sitcoms remain at six, with the addition of "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice." Crime-fighting is steady at four, with the addition of "Toma" and "Griff."

Marionette Opera Staged

NEW YORK (AP) — The first American performance of Hydn's marionette opera, "Philemon and Baucis," was performed by L'Ensemble Du Sacre Coeur at the Convent of the Sacred Heart here.

The opera was composed in celebration of Empress Maria Theresa's visit to Esterhazy, Hungary, in 1773. Hayden composed it specifically for a marionette theater.

Circleville Teens Are Chosen 'Miss Teen' And 'Miss Talent'

W. Virginia Still Unable To Garner Gasoline Bids

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia Purchasing Director Ben Rubrecht says the Mountain State's dilemma in fueling its fleet of state government vehicles is a real, and threatening, indication of a nationwide gasoline shortage.

"We're able to go to the end of the month and then we'll have to go to the retail market," he said Tuesday, after a second bid opening failed to produce any gasoline distributor willing, or able, to meet the state's estimated $2 million annual contract needs for gasoline and oil.

One firm—Groves Oil and Supply Co. of Petersburg—did submit a proposal, but it was to cover only four counties in the Eastern Panhandle. Purchasing officials are unsure of its legality.

"I've got an absolutely empty feeling," Rubrecht said.

Requests for bids had been sent to 25 major oil firms and distributors, but most replied with "regrets."

Union 76 of California held the state contract for years, but did not submit any bids March 15 when the first bidding session was conducted.

Union did agree to extend the old contract—which expired March 31—for one month, but tacked on a 2.5 cents per gallon price increase.

That extension ends this month.

The first bidding session was for statewide service in fueling vehicles for numerous state agencies, including the Department of Highways, the state police, the Welfare Department and others.

The second bidding Tuesday gave oil firms the option of bidding on a six-or 12-month basis, or for all or any of five areas of the state.

Rubrecht said loss of the Union contract and failure to attract another supplier will probably mean a substantial increase in the cost of state petroleum product purchases. The state had been getting gasoline wholesale for about 26 cents a gallon.

Rubrecht said the Groves four-county proposal did not list a firm price for supplying state needs in Mineral, Hardy, Grant and Hampshire counties, and that he was not sure if the state could accept such a bid.

Late Captives Say Treatment Not Good, But Little Torture

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — While American fliers shot down in the closing months of the Vietnam war suffered less torture than those captured earlier, their treatment was not in line with the Geneva Convention, two returned POWs say.

Capt. William J. Henderson of Milwaukee said Hanoi was concerned with "humane and lenient" treatment because of world opinion, but the prisoners viewed it as "mean and lean."

"I'm alive," said Lt. Col. William J. Breckner Jr. of Columbus, Ohio, "but I lost 42 pounds in eight months."

Henderson and Breckner were among four returned POWs speaking at a news conference Tuesday before they began leaves. They had just completed debriefings at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here.

The others were 1st Lt. Robert M. Hudson and Capt. Michael J. LaBeau, both of Kincheloe Air Force Base in Michigan.

Breckner said there still are many Americans "unaccounted for" in North Vietnam. "I'd like to see a fuller accounting" of the men still missing, he said.

Henderson said the prison camp he was in was escapable, but the senior American officer ordered no escape attempts because the population around the Hanoi camp was "quite unfriendly" and an American was easily recognized.

Two Circleville teenagers captured district contest titles making them eligible to enter the International Talent and Beauty Pageant at the state level.

Winning recognition were Becky Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sowers, and Vickie Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Adams.

Vickie was chosen Miss Teen during recent auditions held at the Chillicothe YMCA. She was selected on the basis of talent, poise, personality and beauty to represent girls aged 13 to 17 from this community at the 1973 Ohio State competition of the International Pageant.

Miss Teen Talent is Circleville Junior High student Becky Sowers. Becky scored highest in the talent portion of the audition at Chillicothe with her modern ballet interpretation of "First Time Ever I Saw Your Face."

Both will take part in the state competition July 2-6 at Wooster College and compete against other Ohio teenagers for a right to represent Ohio in the International Pageant.

Fourteen-year-old Becky is an eighth grader at CJHS and a student of dance of Mrs. Betty Sherrick. She hopes to have a career as a dancer or in the theatre after completing her education.

But for now, the blue-eyed blonde is content to enjoy reading and art, and be active in swimming, tennis and cycling. She shares her residence at 125 S. Pickaway St. with her parents and a Siamese cat, "Sam."

"Miss Teen" Vickie Adams is a green-eyed miss who stands a bare two inches over the five foot mark. Long brown hair tops her 98-pound frame.

Vickie lives at 116 Parkview Ave. with her parents and is a seventh grade student at Circleville. She has two brothers, Larry and Barry, who are both married.

Her talent activity in the contest was a solo number on the guitar. She is a music student of Mrs. L. C. Agler, 137 Watt St. The 13-year-old professes an interest in tennis, music and swimming and plans a musical or modeling career.

For other girls interested in keeping informed of Pageant activities in this area for the year, the organization is offering a free newsletter. This is available by writing to the International Pageant Headquarters, 169 Lake St., Elmira, New York, 14901.

Trooper Hurt In Kentucky Auto Chase

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — A Kentucky state trooper is nursing injuries today after a high-speed car crash Tuesday as a hostage of two men.

State trooper Wayne Hoard suffered a broken nose and bruises after being abducted at gunpoint and surviving the crash of his patrol car.

Charged with auto theft, armed robbery and kidnapping are two brothers identified by authorities as Thomas E. Baker, 23, a soldier stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., and Larry W. Baker, 20, of Columbus.

Trooper Hoard was taken captive after spotting a car fitting the description of one reported carrying two men brandishing a gun in Carroll County.

Hoard's patrol car was commandeered and he was held at gunpoint in the back seat as the car sped north. The car went out of control near the Gallatin-Carroll county line and wrecked.

A passing motorist, Thomas Slimak of Coraopolis, Pa., was held hostage and his car taken.

The Slimak car was intercepted by Trooper Mike Evans of Boone County and pursued north. Hoard and Slimak were being released as Evans approached. He picked up the freed men and continued the chase, finally catching the two when they pulled over.

Everyone got a seat, the acoustics were good, and the testimony less emotional—in sharp contrast to each of four House hearings on the proposal to prohibit discrimination on the basis

Auto Emissions Deadline Extended By Ruckelshaus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus today granted a one-year extension of the 1975 anti-pollution standards for automobiles, but established interim standards requiring some use of new anti-pollution devices.

Ruckelshaus set interim standards which, he said, would require the use of "catalytic converters" on all domestic automobiles sold in California in 1975.

A somewhat less strict standard was set for the rest of the nation and Ruckelshaus said it "will likely result in some catalysts used on some models nationwide by 1975."

Ruckelshaus said he believed that the "oxidation catalyst"—the anti-pollution device on which the U.S. auto industry has been working—could do the job and must be used if the legal requirement for a 90 per cent reduction of auto emissions is to be achieved.

He said the purpose of his interim standards was to "phase in" the use of catalysts.

The 90 per cent emission reduction, originally scheduled for 1975-model cars, now must be achieved by the 1976 models. The present law permits no further extension.

The original standards would have limited hydrocarbon emissions to 0.41 grams per mile compared with the 3.0 grams permitted in 1974.

Instead, Ruckelshaus has now set the 1975 standard at 1.5 grams, exactly half the 1974 level, and he set a separate standard of 0.9 grams per mile for California in 1975.

The original standard for carbon monoxide would have been 3.4 grams per mile in 1975, compared with 28.0 grams in 1974.

The interim standard, instead, will be 15 grams in 1975 nationwide and 9.0 grams in California.

The interim standards are somewhat tougher than those proposed, in general, by auto companies who sought the one-year delay.

In making the announcement, Ruckelshaus said, "this is a terribly complex and important decision that involves the whole mix of our nation's struggle for a cleaner environment.

"Involved are billions of dollars, hundreds of thousands of jobs, the single most important segment of our economy, the largest aggregate man-made contributor to air pollution and the ambivalence of the American public's intensive drive for healthy air and apparently insatiable appetite for fast, efficient, and convenient automobiles."

Ruckelshaus said because of the potential disruption of society involved in attempting to apply the catalyst technology across all car lines in one year, "I believe it is the better part of wisdom to phase in the catalyst."

He said he chose California to begin the use of catalysts because of its serious air pollution problems, its experience with advanced emission controls and its characteristics as a relatively separate and isolated market.

State Crime Unit Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill establishing a state crimefighting unit was readied for introduction into the Ohio House today.

Sponsored by Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-24 Dayton, the bill would create a Department of Crime Prevention and Control.

The Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation and the Peace Officers Training Council, both now under the attorney general, would be transferred to the new department.

The new unit would be authorized to investigate criminal activity and drug related crimes anywhere in the state. Evidence gathered would be turned over to prosecutors or directly to grand juries.

Orlett said creation of the new department would qualify the state for federal funds. "Next to ethics legislation, crime is the most crucial problem facing the legislature," he said.

of sex. About 250—half the size of the House crowds—showed up.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Elections Committee which is hearing the proposal, moved the hearings from the Statehouse to a large hearing room in the State Office Building one block west of the Statehouse.

Two dozen witnesses signed to testify on behalf of the ERA at the long hearing, which started at 7:30 p.m.—a half hour earlier than usual. Aronoff said he will conduct another hearing next Tuesday night for opponents, and that the committee will vote at a later open hearing on whether to recommend approval to the full Senate.

Ohio would be the 31st state to ratify the amendment as the situation now stands.

However, there is substantial opposition in the Senate, which allowed the same proposal to die a year ago. Polls this year have shown supporters face an uphill battle.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, the main House sponsor, was the first to testify before the Senate panel. He reiterated that Ohio has been tabbed as "a pivotal state" in the drive to complete ratification this year. He predicted the other seven states needed would fall into line if Ohio acts favorably.

Prof. Ruth Bader Ginsburg of the Columbia University College of Law was the proponents' chief legal witness. She denied claims that the amendment would result in some of the "horrors" envisioned by opponents in Ohio and other states. Among them, she said, were fears of common rest rooms, women being drafted "unless men are drafted," and loss of support from husbands in event of divorce.

The New York professor also discounted claims that discriminations against women can be ended through passage of new laws by the Congress and the states. "Only those who have failed to learn the lessons of the past would accept that counsel," she maintained.
